Those little things

By C.S. Devine

They removed the velvet pads from the bottom of the silver collection plate at a big Church in Vancouver recently. Now nobody can contribute less than a dollar without the clang of coins registering the donation for all to hear. So the cost of giving is going up.

The cost of small items have jumped sharply but folks don't get very upset. A nickle here, a dime there, sometimes a quarter and they aren't breaking anybody. But, taken together, they are a real pain in the pocketbook.

Are we being nickled and dimed to death? So it seems. Some people upset by the little increases, are fighting back - but its often a losing battle. A Toronto woman started sewing her children's clothes, but she discovered the price of patterns is increasing.

Some big increases are coming in the dime store, which long ago became a misnomer. At a Woolworth's store in Philadelphia, the assistant manager could find only four things (not counting candy) costing as little as a dime. They were some lipsticks, marked down from 33 cents, a nine cent screwdriver, a 10 cent package of picture hangers and a small jar of children's soap bubbles for a dime.

The penny inflation hasn't gone unnoticed by a 10 year old boy in Calgary. Until recently, he had seemed satisfied with the 50 cents he received for every A on his report card. But last month he asked that the ante be raised to $1.00. "Its not that I have to work harder to get the A, Dad", he explained. "Its just that everything costs more now".

Most makers and sellers of low priced goods blame inflation for their increases. The President of a Winnipeg company that recently increased the price of 100 pounds of play sand to $1.30 from $1.00 says, "The labor cost of bagging sand and other business costs even make me wonder whether our new price is sufficient."

But the added prices do pose some hardships. The price of a large schooner of beer has been increased from 20 to 25 cents in Skid Row bars in Chicago and the pickpockets have been complaining that they have to steal more to get along these days.

In Philadelphia, marijuana smokers complain they now have to pay $35.00 an ounce for their "grass" up from $10 - 15.00 recently. What's more, they say the stuff is inferior. But the greatest increase has occurred in Orange County, Florida where signs along the road once invited tourists to pick a bag of oranges free. Now, one invitation reads: "Pick an orange, five cents."

Indeed most people agree they just can't win. However one place in the Montreal area that is holding the line, is a Kool-Aid stand operated by a six year old. His mother says he has had to stay at two cents because she won't let her children "charge inflationary prices". But he is losing money his mother states. "He'll come home with 14 cents in his pocket, and it has cost me a 10 cent package of Kool-Aid and 35 cents worth of Dixie Cups.

Where will it all end. Will it be as so.

Date July 10, 1979. The young man walks into a restaurant. "I'll have a cheeseburger. "How much?"

Says the counterman "That's $8.00 and $1.60 tax makes $9.60."

"How come you sell them so cheap?"

Volume!
Little things mean a lot.

How to lose money and friends

One of the fastest ways to lose friends can be to give their names to a door-to-door salesman. It could also be one of the quickest ways to lose money. Referral selling, as this is called, is sometimes designed not to save you money, but to separate you from more cash than you could normally afford for a color television set, sewing machine, vacuum cleaner or some equally expensive item. Yet it has been estimated in the United States, for example, that in 1967 referral selling involved a potential loss to the public of $200 million.

But the problem is not confined to our U.S. neighbors.

Canadians encounter it too, simply by answering the door or the telephone. Here's How: An affable salesman might tell you he is not trying to sell his product - he merely wants your opinion of it or he may ask you to test it. But after the pleasantries are over, he may still try to persuade you to buy. There could also be a lure of a nation-wide contest in which you would be eligible to win a car, a mink coat or more money than you could earn in several years. Or there may be a suggestion that this is the most economical way for the company to introduce and distribute the item, without the expense of advertising.

Then it may be implied that you can purchase the product at a fraction of the cost simply by giving the names of friends who could be potential customers. Or you could write them yourself, introducing the salesman, his product and his plan. For each additional sale he makes from the names you supply, you might be told, you will be given a bonus which would help defray the cost of the item. The gimmick, however, is that you must usually make a small down-payment, and sign a contract for the full purchase price. And this price is sometimes much more than the goods are actually worth.

Operators have emergency test

On Saturday and Sunday June 28 and 29 members of the Amateur Radio Club of Western Labrador participated in the annual field day and emergency test sponsored by the American Radio Relay League.

The test is set up so that radio amateurs in North America can demonstrate their ability to operate under emergency conditions by competing with other stations in North America for awards in their sections and countries.

Scoring is done by each individual club along guidelines laid down by ARRL and bonus points are given by this organization for each condition that meets or exceeds their requirements for an emergency set up. For example, if a club uses a portable generator or battery power to supply power for heating, lighting, cooking and radio equipment operation, that club is allowed to multiply its score by three. So, clubs are encouraged

The Amateur Radio Club of Western Labrador had originally intended to set up in the Ski Lodge area, but because of the present gasoline shortage, were forced to hold the field day within walking distance of Wabush. So, on Saturday, club members, working in teams, set up the generator, cables for lighting etc., tents and radio equipment, antennae, etc., on the highest hill in Wabush and proceeded to operate continuously from 5 p.m. on Saturday to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

The heavy rain on Saturday added to the stimulated emergency conditions but did not dampen the enthusiasm of the group. Seven operators using three stations contacted approximately 550 stations in the 24 hour period.

Members participating in the field day were:

- Dick Foote, VE1ST/VO2;
- Ted Stapleton, VO2DA;
- John Barrow, Jr., VO1JB/VO2;
- Charles Noakes, G3UHR/VO2;
- Mac Moss, VO2AC;
- Mrs. Jean Barrow, VO2AK;
- John Barrow Sr., and George Ellsworth, VO2AO.

Scanning the market

C.S. DEVINE

Now that the market has bottomed and is apparently poised for an upswing, studied selective buying, is the order of the day. Check the price earnings ratios of your current or prospective holdings. At the moment P.E. ratios are at their lowest point in recent years (Bargains) - Many listings are paying high dividends (Bargains) - Some of the go-go high flyers are available at one-half and even one-third of their 1968-69 highs (Bargains). Yes, if the stock exchanges and brokers merchandised securities the way retail stores do, you would see ads and posters advertising "15% off every item on the Board" or something similar to attract the bargain hunters and the impulse buyers.

This week's specials include (Industrials) Milton Brick around $8.38 (1969 High $13.50) - Winnipeg Supply & Fuel around $8.50 (1969 High $11.00) - Mussels Ltd. around $6.88 (1969 High $10.50) - Seaway Multi Corp. around $11.00 (1969 High $36.75) - Revenue Properties around $5.00 (1969 High $20.88) - International Systcoms around $3.50 (1969 High $10.00) - In Mines and Oils, Highland Bell around $4.25 (1969 High $5.65) - Madeline Mines around $5.10 (1969 High $6.45) - Ensign Oil around $3.90 (1969 High $5.20) - and Ulster Pertol around $4.50 (1969 High $6.50).

Read an interesting article recently on the Tokyo Stock Exchange. Seems the Exchange is unlike any in the world. Volume is tremendous. An average day sees 200 Million share trade (Toronto about 3.5 Million shares.) Prices are cheap. The average price for a share traded is the equivalent of only 40 cents. Sony the highest priced stock costs less than $6.00. A common order is 50,000 shares. Figures on the extent of foreign involvement in the Japanese market came from the Bank of Japan. In the year ended March 31, foreigners (about 70% of them Europeans) received approval to buy $597 Million of securities, four times more than the $126 Million covered by approvals granted the year before. Not all the funds were actually invested. But a net of $345 Million of stock market capital flowed into Japan during the last fiscal year, more than six times the $55 Million of the year before.

Last year's inflow represented fully one-third of the surplus that Japan earned in its payments account with the rest of the world. To the foreigners who send their money to Japan in search of bargains, Tokyo's Kabutocho, its Wall Street, must seem a fertile field. Blue-chip stocks are currently selling for about 12 to 13 times their latest per-share earnings. In the U.S., by contrast, the 30 stocks in the Dow-Jones industrial average are selling for more than 15 times their latest earnings, and a similar group in London is priced at 18 times per-share net.

Even with the market there setting new highs, analysts say many Japanese stocks remain temptingly underpriced. Hitachi Ltd., an electric appliance company heavily favoured by foreigners, for instance, is priced at about nine times earnings. Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Ltd., a major diversified company, is even lower at six times per-share net.

Tips for better barbecues

- The most satisfactory and efficient barbecue fuel is charcoal or charcoal briquets made from hard wood. Always keep briquets in a dry place.
  - An electric starter or a commercial liquid fire starter are the best methods for kindling the fire. After applying liquid to fuel, wait 5 minutes before igniting. Don't use gasoline or kerosene; they are dangerous and may add unpleasant aromas to the food.
  - Avoid making the fire too big. Spread the charcoal evenly so that it extends just beyond the area of food to be cooked.
  - Build the fire well in advance of cooking so there is ample time for fire to die down (30 - 45 minutes for small fires; about 1 hour for a larger fire).
  - A bed of hot, even glowing coals with a slight whitish ash on top - is essential for good barbecuing. There should be no visible flames.
  - Keep the barbecue equipment clean. Clean the rack and other parts as soon as the fire has cooled, for it is never advisable to let the old fat and drippings become encrusted.

Carol Scouts

K.J. Greene

Scouts and Cubs of the Carol Scout Group have had a very successful year, although at first we experienced some difficulties which were overcome with the re-organization of the Group Committee and with the help of our supporters. We would like to thank all the people who contributed to our fund raising; a special mention to the Ashuanipi Social Club and the Iron Ore Company of Canada.

The culmination of a Scouts Year has always been summer camp. This year, due to difficulties beyond our control, our summer camp will not take on as much emphasis as in the past years. There will be a summer camp in this area, probably around the Walsh River or Duly Lake. We hope to have a one week camp for every Scout or Cub who wishes to attend. Even if it takes two camps, we will do it.

In 1967-68 we had one (1) scout, Fred Brown, who received the Salvation Army Religion and Life award. This year, 1968-69, we had 31. We would like to express our thanks to the clergymen of the different denominations for the time they put in to instruct and give the exams to the boys. The awards were presented at Religious Services held at their own churches during the last Month. They were as follows:

UNITED CHURCH: A. Miller, N. Avery, Jr., J. Anderson, R. Watson, Carol Scout Group and J. Young, 1st Wabush Troop.

ANGLICAN CHURCH: J. Bullen, D. Moss, R. Gosse, L. Gosse, G. Noseworthy, T. Noseworthy, R. Bennett. Three Scouts, T. Swanson, A. Nebucett and J. Snow earned the badge but were absent at the presentation.

ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH: J. English, M. Tobin, M. Dupree, D. Timmons, P. Flemming, Gary O'Reilly, P. Collins, J. Rose, Gerry O'Reilly, Marc Boutin, Armand Trahan, Patrick Dugas, R. Leonard and T. Crook.

Those Scouts and Cubs are to be congratulated on the earning of this Award. The clergymen concerned all agreed that instructions for the coming year would start about October 1.

We would like to take time out to welcome back Joe Sheppard, one of the founders of the Scout Movement in Labrador City.

During last year, a Drum and Bugle Band, with 15 boys in training, has been going very well through the efforts of Bill Soper. The 2nd Carol Troop raised $330 to buy the instruments and donations of $100 each were given from The Royal Canadian Legion, Branch No. 47 and Rev. Dr. Whelan Council of the Knights of Columbus. Two bugles and four drums were bought. With Bob Hollet as leader, practice is being held three or four evenings each week in the former United Church Building. Why not drop around some evening and enjoy the music.

Cubs and Scouts of the Carol Scout Group again took part in the annual Memorial Day Service held on July 1 at Labrador City. This year the group of approximately 200 scouts and cubs were led by their own Drum and Bugle Band. This was the band's first public appearance and by all reports, it was well received, especially by the younger children as crowds of kids followed it around after the ceremony.

Again the group has come up with another "first", as this is the first band of this kind to be organized in this community. Congratulations to skipper Bill Soper, organizer of the band and also to Ex C.L.B. Bandsman Bob Hollet of Wabush who trained them. Mr. Hollet who recently joined the group as a Scouter was presented with the Group Neckerchief before the Parade.

After the ceremonies at the Cenotaph, Scouts, Cubs, Guides and Brownies marched back to the dismissal point by an alternate route. Let's hope we see and hear more of this band in the future, as I am sure everyone appreciates the effort put into this project by the leaders and the boys.

In the evening the group held their annual weiner roast at Tanya Lake. This was attended by some 80 Scouts and Guides. Games were played and a Scout Guide campfire was held to end the enjoyable evening. Leaders and their wives attended this gathering along with Mrs. B. Hardie, Guide Commissioner here.

During the campfire, Scout awards for the year 1967-68 were named. These awards were overdue and should have been presented earlier in the year, but due to the fact that there was no Father and Son Banquet this year, this was not done. Those awards which change hands every year will be recalled again early in the fall and presented to the winners for 1968-69. This will happen after the summer program is finished, as summer camp is included in some of the requirements.

The following are names of Scouts winning the awards for 1967-68:

THE ROBERT STAMP MEMORIAL TROPHY awarded every year to the most outstanding Scout in the group went to Terry Noseworthy.

THE INDIA AWARD for the best individual effort on Apple Day, in fund raising, went to Billie Power Jr. of 2nd Carol Troop.

THE K. GREENE SHIELD for the most helpful Scout at Camp went to Bruce Dunkin.

The above awards are given every year and kept by the winners.

The following awards are to be kept for a year and then turned back to be awarded to the next year's winner.

SKIPPER JOE AWARD for the most outstanding Patrol Leader in 1st Carol Troop went to Scout David Gosse.

SKIPPER BOB SHIELD for the most outstanding Patrol Leader in 2nd Carol Troop went to Ian Burford.

THE BLAKE CUP for the outstanding Tenderfoot in 1st Carol Troop went to Richard Timmons.

THE BLACKBURN CUP for the outstanding Tenderfoot in the 2nd Carol Troop went to Kenneth Landers.

Cub Awards for 1967-68 were announced after the parade as follows:

Best Cub of the year - 1st Pack - Randy Leonard.

Best Cub of the year - 2nd Pack - Howie Vatcher

Best Cub of the year - 4th Pack - Gary Jenkins.

K. GREENE AKELA AWARD for the most helpful Cub at camp went to Howie Vatcher.

After you have signed the inviting contract, your problems may be just beginning. For one thing, your friends may not welcome the salesman, nor the idea that they are helping you pay for the item. In fact, according to a U.S. survey of the referral sales of a vacuum cleaner, only 10% of the customers received more than $75, that is, three bonuses of $25 each. This represents a relatively small amount towards the entire cost of about $282 for a cleaner which had a wholesale price of only $60. What you are not usually told is that the contract you sign may be put in the hands of a bank or finance company. This could mean another headache if, after you have recovered from the salesman's personality and plausibility, you decide that you don't want the item at all. Then you may be saddled with a product you do not really want - and with finance or bank payments you want even less.

This recently happened to a couple in Enderby, B.C. They decided after three days they did not want the vacuum cleaner, but could not persuade the agents to return their deposit and remove the $278 appliance.

Referral selling is not restricted to vacuum cleaners - it is often used to sell items that might not normally fit into a limited budget - refrigerators, fire alarm systems, sewing machines, television sets, stereo-phonographs, ranges, freezers, carpets, drapes, washers, dryers, and furniture suites. Another consumer purchased a refrigerator and later, when he discovered the normal price was $100 less than the cost to him, he was advised by a friend in the retail trade to stop making payments. However, unable to withstand harassment by the finance company, he finally borrowed money to make the payments. To add insult to injury, his name had been used in referral letters to some of his friends.

While most provinces have laws dealing with registration and control of door-to-door sellers, the province of British Columbia has adopted legislation effective July 1, 1969 making any contract null and void where there is an element of referral selling attached to it in any way. Saskatchewan has also acted directly against this practice under the Direct Seller's Act by including a special clause in vendors' licenses.

What should you do if you are approached to purchase an item at a discount provided you give the salesman the names of several friends who may be potential customers?

1. Go over the proposed contract, point by point, with the salesman.

2. Get, in writing, a statement about the average number of bonuses other customers have received.

3. Be sure you can afford the item, even without bonuses.

4. Check the retail price of the product, or one similar to it, before you buy.

5. If you value your friends, get their permission before giving their names and addresses to the salesman.

6. Don't be rushed into signing a contract for any reason, e.g. the salesman has another appointment with a neighbor, or that the offer is for a limited time.

7. If you do buy get a written guarantee, and read it carefully.

8. If you have doubts or difficulties contact your provincial government authorities.

A stepchild of referral selling is the "pyramid" or "multi-level" distributorship plans - to promote cosmetics, cleaning fluids or other household items. A promoter may invite you to be a representative of the company for a certain amount of money. You may be told to appoint assistant managers who will, in turn, appoint salesmen... each of you investing a certain sum in the company. Not all of these operations are as financially rewarding as they may seem. If you are approached, you'd be wise to:

1. Find out the potential market of the product in your area.

2. Discover if your territory is protected - i.e. that there is not a glut of distributors selling that product or one similar to it.

3. Get proof in the form of a verified accounting record of claims made as to the profits you could make.

4. Get a lawyer's advice before signing the contract, to learn, for example, whether you must have a licence before you are able to operate.

There are some forms of referral selling, however, which do not seem to give rise to difficulties. Some well-established firms engaged in the home selling to kitchenware, cosmetics, household appliances or foods, have sales schemes in which a householder is given a "gift" of cash or merchandise of she invites friends to witness a demonstration. But the prices of the goods are comparable to similar products on the market, the "hostess" receives no "special deal" on her purchases, and she receives her "gift" whether or not her friends buy anything.

It has been said that if you have an opportunity to buy something for a song, first check the accompaniment. And that is sound advice when it comes to many types of referral selling. If you don't you may lose not only money, but friends too.

this week in ASTROLOGY BY CARL PAYNE TOBEY ILLUSTRATED BY DEGRAZIA

PAST

BUSINESS AND ASTROLOGY

There are vast numbers of business men who study and employ astrology in their operations. This began with J. P. Morgan who was a client of Evangeline Adams. These men do not want outsiders to know what they are doing. They want to make money. They have always regarded astrology as a trade secret. Why should they tell their competitors what they are doing? Tommy Manville was regarded as a "nut", but he was one of the most successful traders in Wall Street. Tommy was an astrologer. He once ran a full-page ad in the New York Times for a Taurus stenographer, at another time for an Aries lawyer. Again, he arrived on the floor of a New York night club in western attire on a horse.

THE LEO WOMAN

The Leo woman can display charm and kindness but she likes attention. Give it to her. She can't be herself without it. When she is the center of attention, there is no more unselfish girl. She likes gaiety, entertainment, laughter, joviality and fun, but she prefers to be the center of it. To her, the world should be a place of happiness, and she will do her part in making it so.

FUTURE

TOBEY'S PREDICTION:

A progressive week for those with definite objectives. Don't let grass grow under your feet. There are less obstructions to progress. Knowledge is unfolding. We are entering a new era. Seek to discover nature's principles of balance and let her work for you. All science is based on mathematical theorems, all of which have to contain that equal sign in the center to denote balance.

WHY DOES ASTROLOGY WORK?

Most (but not all) of the pre-space age astronomers opposed astrology because they couldn't understand how it could work, or how planets could affect people. Astrology is no greater mystery than growth. It would be just as reasonable for an astronomer to deny that things grow because he can't understand how this is possible. Meanwhile, they keep right on growing. Ants in Africa behave like ants in the U.S. You can learn some things about African ants from ants in the U.S. You can learn some things about people by studying the planets.
