IN HIGH PLACES
 By ARTHUR HAILEY

The most exciting political novel since Advise and Consent.

When the government of Canada is faced with the terrifying realization that the Dominion will be the battlefield of World War Three, Prime Minister James Howden decides that an Act of military and economic union must be concluded between his country and the United States. However, Howden's unrelenting sense of national purpose is distorted by the methods he employs, the only methods he knows, the same ones that put him on top: patronage, nepotism, bribery, and blackmail.

An explosive situation threatening the mutual pact develops when Howden fails to show human compassion to Henri Duval, a man without a country, who has been turned away from Canada by the Department of Immigration. The public and the press rise to Duval's support and the ensuing battle, neatly rigged by the Opposition Party, splits the Prime Minister's Cabinet right down the middle.

The fate of two great nations hangs in the balance between the political cunning of James Howden and the liberty of a would-be immigrant.

Within this fast-paced, breathless novel are woven two love stories - one haunting and sweet, the other practised and ironic.

If Arthur Hailey's plot is excellent, his characters are superb. Each one is real; each is distinct, defined by choices he or she has to make - blunt alternatives forced on them by the harsh truth of their lives: James Howden, the fascinating in-fighter, Brian Richardson, the party organizer who stops at nothing; Milly Freedeman, once a mistress, now a memory; Harvey Warrander, the man who "might have been"; and many more, each rising or falling in the bustling corridors of government.

This is a remarkable book about volatile, ambitious, greedy, grafting, corrupt, and saintly men and women, set in the amoral world of compromise. It is hard-hitting, suspenseful, and even prophetic. In short, it is a book about those who live and struggle In High Places.

SUMMER DOCTOR
 Charles H.
 Knickerbocker

This is a novel about a very unusual kind of a doctor. Daniel van Dine, M.D. is inclined to wear coveralls, a flannel shirt, and hip-length fisherman's boots, and he has a sense of humor. He is a nonconformist and a humanist with a keen sense of history. His religious inclinations are rather strong. He is constantly seeking the reason for human suffering and pain. He feels that a deeply personal doctor-patient relationship is more important than the glamor of medical progress.

Dr. Dan decides to locate on a remote island off the coast of Maine. Here, he will be very busy ten weeks out of every year, for Juniper Island is a summer resort. Here, also, he will be lonely, for the conditions in the winter are primitive and the island is inhabited then only by stubborn and cantankerous fishermen.

This is Dr. Dan's own story of his first three years on Juniper Island. He treats his patients with compassion and individual understanding. He discovers that a doctor can learn more from his patients than he is ever taught in medical school.

Among his patients and neighbors are a much-married millionaire, a fisherman with a curious sense of ethics, a gloomy anthropologist, a violent artist, and a displaced cleric. Among the women who influence him a city fashion editor, an ex-chorus girl, a spinster librarian, a fun-loving Indian mid-wife, and an unusual adolescent. One of these manages to marry him. Also, he owns a dog, a mangy hound answering to the unlikely name of Slob.

Dr. Dan tells his story with wit and wisdom. His career is one of growth, and he reaches certain conclusions of interest to doctors and patients alike.

Charles H. Knickerbocker, author of this novel, writes out of experience, since he himself is a physician who practices on a resort island off the coast of Maine. He has practiced Internal Medicine in Bar Harbor, Maine, since 1947. Dr. Knickerbocker manages to combine writing with an active medical career and is the author of three previous novels plus many magazine articles and stories. Born in 1922 in Syracuse, New York, Dr. Knickerbocker is married and is the father of three lively adolescents.

THE BANKER
 LESLIE WALLER

This is the story of Woods Palmer, whose life is banking. It is also the story of big banking today, the business that underlies all of America, good and bad.

At 44, with his marriage slowly dying, Palmer cuts one career short, severs lifelong ties with Chicago, and plunges headlong into the jungle of high finance that is New York City . . . money hub of the free world. In New York, where so many other lines of tension meet, is the nerve center that controls money, the fuel of modern civilization.

But New York is something more to Palmer than a Place where money is bought, sold, borrowed, lent, created, and destroyed. It is a second chance to find a way of life worth living.

This is also the story of Edith Palmer, the tall, cool, fair lady who looks to her husband as if she might have just stepped out of the pages of a high fashion magazine with all the aloof and untouchable aura of a printed picture.

And it is the story of Virginia Clary, who has built a career for herself in the world of banking in a demanding job that makes her forget the past. Virginia, who has kept herself free of all entanglements, suddenly finds herself moving towards Woods Palmer, reluctantly at first, then passionately.

This is the story, too, of that other New York, the hazy, shifting world of power politics that erupts only rarely on the front pages of newspapers in scandal headlines.

Spray insecticide only with caution

Some people treat other people as if they were insects.

Insecticide is sprayed into the air they breathe, on the food they eat, and on clothing and skin.

Be careful how, where and when you use insect sprays, says the council on family health in Canada, a non-profit organization sponsored as a public service by members of the drug industry. Sprays can be used effectively and safely with a few precautions.

Keep children and pets away from the spraying area and give insect sprays time to dry completely before permitting children or pets back in the area.

Check the direction of the breeze to ensure that no spray blows back in your face. In the house, cover bird cages and fish bowls. Never spray in a room where anyone is eating and always cover food when spraying.

If spray gets on the skin wash it off immediately. Always store insect sprays where children can't get to them and always read the labels before using insecticides.

Round & About

"THE HARRY HIBBS"

We didn't comment in this column last week until we had a chance to assess the results of Harry Hibbs visit, he was engaged by a local club for a one week performance.

Here are some of the comments:

"We've got better accordion players around here".

I went to see him, I still haven't figured out what he can do".

"Sing or play he can't do either".

"A tremendous promotion job". "That was all we needed, Harry Hibbs and the strike".

"The biggest promotion Labrador West has seen, since John C. Doyle.

One person had no comment.

E P A and QUEBECAIR

We read with interest Murphy's column in the Daily News, of Thursday, July 31, where he had the highest praise for E P A. This is fine and dandy Mr. Murphy, if you make one trip a year, but if you have to depend on the service given by both E P A and Quebecair, as the residents, then we feel your story would be different.

Last week E P A's Jet managed to arrive here three days, not bad three out of seven. Surely there must be some reason. When may we expect the PR men of E P A to inform the public what the full story is. While Quebecair does manage to arrive daily, (day light flights seem to be the answer), manage is about all, first class air express from Seven Islands takes from five to seven days. As for the mail, a check with the Post Office reveals that all second and third class mail is flown in here by Quebecair, once every two weeks. When asked by The Aurora, why not weekly or twice weekly, the reply was, "Quebecair cannot supply aircraft".

How about it Quebecair, no room for mail, but you accept mattresses, paint and fishing gear????

We have been advised that on Sunday afternoon, August 3, Quebecair had a freighter aircraft arrive from Montreal, it was intended that the plane would land at Sept Iles to clear the backlog of mail and air express consigned to Labrador City and Wabush, but for some unexplained reason the aircraft bypassed Sept Isles completely and it was not the weather.

While this paper has no intention of taking sides in the current labor dispute, we feel obligated to comment on a recent statement carried by CBC Radio in Montreal, attributed to Mr. William Parsons, international representative of United Steel Workers of America. The complete release is carried elsewhere in this paper.

The part which we take exception to, is Mr. Parson's statement that, "Reports of fuel and food shortages in Labrador are exaggerated."

Come, come, Mr. Parsons, surely you are aware that 90 per cent of cars were parked for a month or more, for the want of gas, prior to the arrival of the fuel train and have you tried to obtain fresh fruits and vegetables?

Have you tried to dial long distance lately, 10 to 20 minutes later, if you are lucky, the operator at Rimouski will answer. Hard to believe, in the age of the Moon Men, yet it seems to be impossible to get an improvement in the long distance set - up.

In reply to a letter from "An Irate Reader", asking why letters to the editor are not published in Aurora, we wish to advise you that we will publish all letters, under the same conditions as apply in any newspaper. Letters must be signed, names will not be published if requested. Address all letters to; the Aurora, P.O. Box 2090, Labrador City.

Department to probe food costs in Labrador

The Labrador West Committee who recently visited Ottawa as a delegation to investigate the deprivation of the citizen rights in this area, also were very fortunate in meeting with Mr. Perry Anglin deputy Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, Miss Jennifer McQueen, special assistant, and Mrs. Balls, local director of the Consumers Association of the city of Ottawa. The excessively high prices in this area were discussed, also the lack of the availability of Grade 1 fruit and vegetables.

Price lists compiled in the twin towns of Labrador City and Wabush were also compared with Sept Iles, P.Q.

We received much sympathy, but then everyone in Ottawa was oozing with sympathy for our problems.

We were advised by Mr. Anglin that an investigator with his department, would be sent to this area immediately, and would be investigating our high prices for a number of months to come. We suggested that neither the stores or public should be given any advance notice as to when the investigations should take place, this way we would be fair to all parties concerned.

Our meeting with Mrs. Balls was also very interesting.

Today's Consumers Association of Canada (C.A.C.) had its origins in the time of the second World War when, in 1941, women's organizations from all parts of Canada were asked by the federal government to help maintain price ceilings that were vital for a successful war effort.

Their success and the effective co-operation with the Wartime prices and Trade Board brought about an increasing consciousness of the need for a permanent Consumer Association. After a series of organizational meetings, consultations and conferences, the Canadian Association of Consumers came into being in September 1947. Through the years C.A.C. has made a point of being reliable in its statements thorough in its investigations, and scrupulously impartial. Many manufacturers keep in close touch with C.A.C.

Membership today is more than 20,000 of which more than a fifth are men. In the near future we will be forming a Consumers Association in this community. However we must have full support of the people of the towns in order to obtain the image we are striving for..

We must try to be a group of fair minded Consumers, not a group that does nothing but protest. We must accept the fact that this is the concept they have of us, to start with. We should try to be good shoppers. If some product is getting out of line in price, then don't buy it!

There is no quicker way to bring a manufacturer or retailer into line -- or get him off the shelf -- than by leaving his product alone.

Remember, we stand for and want to encourage good manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers who produce, market and service (stand behind it) a good product, who will and are listening to the consumers needs. We want to discourage those who do not feel they have a responsibility toward the consumers. We want to encourage honesty in business. To achieve the image of a responsible group, we need to keep in mind that we want to be part of the provincial and national body that is the C.A.C., that we are not chiselers expecting something for nothing. We should strive to be regarded as responsible people, persistent but fair.

Food, fuel shortages exaggerated says Parsons

The committee seeking the restoration of normal train service in Labrador has been accused of strike breaking.

A spokesman for the union representing the striking steelworkers says, the committee does not have the support of his union.

The spokesman, William Parsons said the strikes at Sept Iles are not going to give up and they have the support of the steelworkers in Labrador.

He said, reports of fuel and food shortages in Labrador are exaggerated and caused by someone trying to make a political game out of the strike.

The Town of Labrador City has donated a trophy for Junior medal play Championship and Tom Heard has offered a trophy to be presented to the Junior Club Champion at the end of the season. These trophies should give the juniors incentive to get out and practice hard and show us what they can do. Juniors are asked to sign up for the Club Championship Draw and the deadline is August 10.

Andrew Robertson is to be congratulated for getting the first 'hole in one' for the Tamarack Club. This he did on No. 6 while out practicing for a Tournament.

Senior men are asked to sign up for the Club Championship Draw and all entries must be in by August 10.

this week in ASTROLOGY

BY CARL PAYNE TOBEY
ILLUSTRATED BY DEGRAZIA

PAST

THE ALMANACS

Almanacs and astrology publications often originated when a printer, looking for something to print, studied astrology. Benjamin Franklin studied astrology and gave astrological advice in his "Poor Richard's Almanack."

PRESENT

THE AQUARIAN WOMAN

She is often taller than average. She may be unpredictable. Has an interest in public affairs. She is always searching for something. Improving the community is one of her interests. She does well as president of her club or president of anything. Not a follower, she comes up with her own ideas, and does well in any job that keeps her before the public.

FUTURE

TOBEY'S PREDICTION:

Pioneering influences are strong and growing stronger. There is the restlessness required to carry people on and into new territory. There can be heavy responsibilities for persons born near April 29th of any year. Women so born should guard health. Persons born near November 1st should endeavor to keep out of matters of a legal nature unless they are lawyers and getting paid for it. Even then, it is quite risky.

MIND AND MATTER

The materialistic doctrine (unproved) says that all cause lies in matter. Religion attributes cause to mind. The scientist usually contributes to materialism six days a week and goes to church on Sunday. All science is based on mathematical theorems which are strictly non-material abstractions. Astrology is the missing link between the two. It deals with human dynamics as the important causes.
