On the local scene

Current reports have it that the Wabush shopping plaza is being expanded to double its present size. Work is supposed to start next month with the opening scheduled for November of this year.

Quite a few comments heard recently on the new Metropolitan Security force engaged by Iron Ore Co. while the majority compliment the group on their appearance, many feel its "too military"; and add that while such a force could have been used during construction days it isn't necessary under present circumstances.

Can't recall in our 15 years of Northern living, hearing a weather forecast calling for daytime snow on the 12th of June (and it sure did snow). Certainly has been a poor spring, weather-wise. Heartily agree with the comment heard last week: "If I had to work Saturday (6 June) I would have missed spring and early summer."

The towns of Labrador City & Wabush were well represented at the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities

Annual meeting held in Halifax last week.

Several of the local Clubs report business, the best in months, during May. However things are slowing now as many people prepare for vacations.

This week will see the end of another school year, for the majority of students, and the exodus of teachers has already started. Seems we will see quite a number of new faces in September. Several enjoyable "steak and wine" parties were held recently for various eachers groups.

Belated condolences to the surviving member of the Smith family, on their tragic loss, in a plane accident earlier this month.

It has been learned officially that all material for the Mount Wright Project will be moved through this area. Feasibility studies are in the final stages in regard to this new development and it is expected that official announcement of the project will come very shortly. Company officials state that work being done on an access road from Labrador City to Mount Wright is normal spring repairs. However it has been confirmed that a permanent road will be constructed before the official start of the operation. More than 400 people have been working on the Mount Wright feasibility study. Most of these people represent firms which will be directly involved in the construction of the operation. Confirmation has been obtained from Canadian General Electric, Bell Telephone, and other major firms to the effect that they have undertaken considerable preliminary work on the new site.

EPA questions debated in House

The estimates for the Department of Supply and Services were sharply questioned Monday in the Newfoundland House of Assembly during the afternoon session. The discussion was in connection with the change in the operation of the government's aircraft operations.

John Crosbie (L Reform-St. John's West) led the questioning of the Minister of the department, John Nolan. Mr. Crosbie wanted to know what caused the government to change their methods of operation after so many years and he also wondered why the Atlantic Aviation of Canada Limited received the contract as consultant and managing agent for the government.

Mr. Nolan said that the service given the government by EPA was not satisfactory and that EPA was planning to increase the cost of the government 13 to 17 per cent in some areas. He further stated that Atlantic Aviation was awarded the contract because it would cost the government less.

Mr. Crosbie said that neither answer agreed with information he had. He referred to the study done by UNICA Research and presented to the government in November of 1967. According to this study the old system of operating government aircraft was sufficient and economical and the Eastern Provincial Airways were giving satisfactory service. He said too that the proposals offered by EPA and Atlantic Aviation were different with regard to the services offered and therefore could not be compared in regard to money.

Mr. Crosbie often referred to the transferral of operations from EPA as "political revenge" because of his actions in politics. Ed Roberts, Minister of Health, told Mr. Crosbie not to "flatter" himself and that the new company was chosen because "on" the basis of services rendered for the money going out it was the cheapest." Premier Smallwood then entered the discussion and stated that the Newfoundland government was very close to EPA and helped in the growth of the company. He said that during the early years of operation the government was the "one friend they (EPA) had."

Mr. Crosbie again asked if the minister responsible, John Nolan, would give the proposals of Atlantic Aviation and tell why they were more attractive than EPA's. He was told that information could not be released as the contract had not gone through the Department of Justice.

its affect on the workers it was revealed that the pilots who flew for EPA would in the majority of cases fly for Atlantic Aviation now. John Nolan stated that the majority of jobs in the new operation were handled by Newfoundlanders.

It was revealed that the government now owns eleven of the fourteen aircraft used in the service for emergency operations and government business, and an amendment was passed to purchase the other three planes from EPA. The government will pay the Atlantic Aviation $1,200,000 plus $200,000 from the Health Department for services. The salaries of the employees and the cost of maintaining the aircraft are included in this cost.

Welder killed in Churchill Falls

A thirty-five year old resident of Churchill Falls, Jean Roach, formerly of Montreal was killed Monday in an industrial accident at Churchill Falls. The man was employed by Churchill Construction Join Foundation at the time of the accident. He was a welder at number ten penstock when a rock fell on his head. The accident occurred at 12.30 Monday afternoon and he died in hospital about three hours later.

Statement by NGEA official

"It has come to my attention that there is perhaps a misunderstanding by the public relative to the ballots presented to the Newfoundland Government Employees Association members concerning new salary structures.

"An inference has been made that the N.G.E.A. has accepted the $45.00 per month across-the-board increase for most of the public servants.

"The inference of the N.G.E.A. accepting this offer is completely unsupported as the N.G.E.A. requested, by secret ballot, the decision of members regarding this offer made by government for new salary structures effective April 1, 1970, and deferment of the classification program for one year.

"It has also been indicated that the N.G.E.A. has declined the 5% incremental increase effective April 1, 1971, and this is also completely erroneous.

"The Government has indicated to the N.G.E.A. that they are willing to negotiate on new salary structures based on classifications to be effective April 1, 1971 and that any increment to be effective at that date would be reflected in the newly-negotiated salary structures.

"May I once again reiterate most emphatically that the N.G.E.A. has not accepted the offer made by Government and the acceptance or non-acceptance will only be known when all ballots have been tabulated."

John F. Wolfe,
General Manager.

News from The Marinieres

Well, here we are again with what news there is to give you.

We have a very big parade planned for Saturday afternoon including the Brownies, Guides, Scouts, Sea Cadets for the departure of Father Noel Poisson. Due to bad weather we had to cancel this but these groups attended a free dance which had been planned at the recreation centre.

The Marinieres assisted the sea cadets on Sunday in their receiving of the General Allard of Ottawa who was here for official functions. The Marinieres and the Sea Cadets paraded from the city hall to the Sept. Iles hotel escorting the General.

The Sea Cadets are doing very well indeed, they are starting to have their own band and pretty soon will not be dependant on the music of the Marinieres.

Their drilling show on Sunday also told us to watch them in the future. Now, we have refused all invitations to the outside except two, because of lack of funds, one of these is the competitions in Verdun, August 8, and 9. Saturday the eighth will be parade competitions, Sunday the 9th., choreography and music in the afternoon. In the evening a show at "La Ronde." We are going with the intention of bringing back some honors, if not the first, then a close second or third. We know that you will be rooting for us all the way! The other trip is also in August to Schefferville.

So until next time bye.

Barbara Rousseau.

The fuel tank of an automobile is $\frac{1}{2}$ full. If $8\frac{1}{2}$ gallons are drained out of the tank, and this leaves the $\frac{1}{10}$ full, what is the capacity of the tank?

ANSWER

$21\frac{1}{4}$ gallons. The $8\frac{1}{2}$ gallons drained out represents the difference between $\frac{1}{2}$ and $\frac{1}{10}$, or $\frac{4}{10}$. Divide $8\frac{1}{2}$ by $\frac{4}{10}$.

If I have $50.70 made up of an equal number each of nickels, dimes, quarters, half-dollars, one-dollar bills, five-dollar bills, and ten-dollar bills, how many of each have I?

ANSWER

3 of each. Divide 50.70 by the sum of 0.05, 0.10, 0.25, 0.50, 1.00, 5.00 and 10.

Here 'n' There

ROYAL NAVY SCRAPS SLAVERY BOOK: First the sailors of the Royal Navy had to give up their rum ration, then their bell-bottomed trousers; now three treasured weapons in the fight against the slave trade are to be assigned to oblivion. Recognizing that its fight against the slave trade is over, the navy has decided not to issue ship's captains with three 19th century books on how to deal with slave traders and their captives.

FIRE ENGINE SLOWS DOWN, CHIEF FINED: The Fire Chief of Nanaimo, B.C., Ronald Pepper had his fire engine poop out last March. Recently he lost an appeal against conviction for driving too slowly. The Pepper machine was ticketed for doing 35 miles an hour in a 60-mile-an-hour zone. The chief, head man of a rural department outside this Vancouver Island city, said he was getting bad vibrations. The vibrations, he explained, kept cropping up every time he drove the fire engine faster than 50, and they were wrecking a front-mounted pump. Chief Pepper, who lost three demerits on his driver's license, wasn't on his way to a fire.

PROFITS DOWN: Albright and Wilson Ltd., London based chemical firm whose subsidiary, Electric Reduction Co., of Canada Ltd., operates a phosphorous plant in Newfoundland, reports profit of $2,480,400.00 for 1969, compared with $8,390,200.00 a year earlier. The company says the drop in profit is attributable to the temporary shutdown of furnaces at the Long Harbour, Nfld., plant because of problems concerning waste flow, which is estimated to have cost the company $5,200,000.00.

IMMIGRATION DOWN: Fewer immigrants arrived in Canada last year than in any year since 1965, statistics released recently showed. The total was 161,531, a drop of 22,443 or 12.2% from 1968. Manpower and Immigration Minister Allan MacEachen said, however, the total was well above the 10 year average since 1959, which was 131,142. There was a 10% increase in immigration from the United States and a reduction of nearly 50% in arrivals from Italy.

RUSSIA SEEKS TO PURCHASE FOOD: The Soviet Union is seeking to buy poultry and eggs in the European Common Market. A French company, Volagel, said a poultry transaction, if made, would be the largest ever in Europe. Although the company didn't detail how much poultry to Russia was involved, other sources though it may total as much as 6,600 tons. A movement of that much production out of the Common Market could help other surplus poultry producers, such as the U.S., in making sales in the world market. Volagel said it hadn't yet signed the Soviet contracts, but expects to do so soon. Czechoslovakia also is seeking poultry and egg purchases. There have been no explanations for the Soviet and other buying, but recent indications have been that Russia's farm production has dropped below expectations. Russia recently negotiated with Canada for a large amount of wheat.

HOMES FOR GANDER: Home owners in Gander are currently preparing to submit proposals to the Department of National Defence for the construction of 60 new homes for military personnel in the airport town. The department earlier turned down proposals of contractors bidding for the project claiming that costs are too high and the planned housing sub-standard. Tenders were not called, but the defence department asked home owners to submit proposals for the construction. The 60 new units are to be constructed to house families of naval personnel manning a new communications installation at Gander.

CERTIFICATION: The Ontario Labor Department is considering a proposal that would scrap any requirement of proof of membership in determining whether a union represents a majority of employees for purposes of certification as bargaining agent. The proposal would only require evidence that a union has been authorized by a majority of the employees in the bargaining unit to represent it as bargaining agent.

REBIRTH: Old buildings, many of them white elephants, seem to be getting a new lease of life, in the United States. Entrepreneurs, historical groups, grab the facilities, often at bargain prices, and put them to new uses. Arthur P. Ziegler, executive secretary of the Pittsburg History and Landmarks Foundation, sees a trend toward restoration of "white elephants" as "People are beginning to realize the quality of these buildings." In Philadelphia, a businessman buys a long unused landmark Reading Railroad station and is converting it to a 110-unit motor inn. Boston's old city hall is being transformed this year into an office building. In Atlanta, a 55-year-old, Gothic-style Unitarian Church finds a new use as an expensive French restaurant. The Pittsburgh Symphony will soon start to refurbish a rarely used 1920s-style movie palace it bought a while ago at a cut rate price of $800,000.00. The building will serve as the orchestra's permanent home late in 1971. Some parts of older buildings also lure investors. In Atlanta, a new and thriving bistro occupies the former coal cellar of a downtown hotel.

THE CHECKOFF: Catholic bishops in Michigan adopt a grievance procedure through which priests, nuns and other church workers can voice beefs on anything from assignments to working conditions; the final step: Binding arbitration A Hollywood talent agency reports "a big demand" for models with "ugly" faces to play roles in TV commercials.

Scanning the market

C.S. DEVINE

The feeling of many market analysts that the "Dow" had formed a strong base at 700 was proven to be only "wishful thinking" last week, as the "D-J" dropped to 684 in extremely light trading. It now seems the market will flounder until early July when U.S. forces are scheduled to be withdrawn from Cambodia and initial reports on first 6 months operations of major corporations, start to appear. Professional investors will probably await these developments before further committing funds. So for the next couple of weeks it will be a matter of "wait and see".

Continuing our investment terms and definitions:

Q. What is meant by the term "security"?

A. A security is a legal certificate which evidences that the buyer has loaned money to the issuer (in the case of a bond) or has purchased part ownership of the issuing body (in the case of a stock).

Q. Are there many types of investment securities?

A. Basically there are two main types - debt securities and ownership or equity securities. Within each type there are many variations.

Q. What are the fundamental characteristics of bonds?

A. A bond is an evidence of indebtedness which is issued by governments, municipalities or corporations when borrowing capital funds. Bonds are usually issued in denominations of $1,000.00 and multiplies thereof, upon which the issuer contracts to pay the holder a stipulated rate of interest on specific dates over a stated period of time. At the end of this time the issuer agrees to repay the principal amount against surrender of the bond.

For example, a holder of $1,000.00 Government of Canada 4.5% bond due 1 September 1983 receives $22.50 in interest in March and September of each year until 1983. The Government of Canada pledges it will repay the holder his $1,000.00 principal amount on 1 September 1983. The holder of a bond is a creditor of the issuer and enjoys no rights of ownership or management as long as the terms of the contract are fulfilled. Failure of the issuer to live up to the agreement causes default and in the case of industrial or commercial companies this invariably entitles the bondholder to legal resource to bring about a satisfaction of his stated rights.

Q. What is a stock? A. Stocks or shares are securities which are issued by corporations. They represent participation in the ownership of the company and give to the stockholder a voice in its management and a proportionate claim on its profits. These profits are distributed to shareholders in the form of dividends which are declared out of earnings by the directors of the company from time to time. Since profits will rise when business is good and fall when business slumps, the frequency and size of dividend payments may fluctuate compared to the interest payments of bonds. Shares represent the permanent capital subscribed to the company.

Q. What are the fundamental differences between bonds and stocks?

A. Bonds may be issued by governments or corporations; shares only by corporations. A bondholder is a creditor because of money he has lent; the shareholder is a part owner because of money he has subscribed. Bonds regularly pay interest, the amount of which is usually fixed at the date of issue. Shares pay dividends which may rise or fall according to the fortunes of the issuing company. Bonds will mature at some fixed date in the future; common shares and some preferred shares have perpetual life.

The Mid-Canada Development Conference

A concept in Action: Purpose of the Conference - "to examine the advisability of establishing a nation-wide policy and planned for the development of Mid-Canada."

Area covered: "a coast-to-coast development area from 200-500 miles in width, running from Newfoundland through Labrador, northern Quebec south of James Bay, then across north-western Ontario through Northern Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Here Mid-Canada branches into the Northwest Territories down the Mackenzie River to the Arctic Ocean at Inuvik and Tuktoyaktuk, into the Yukon Territory and into the Prince Rupert sector of British Columbia."

Foundation Officers:

President Richard Rohmer, D.F.C., Q.C.

Secretary Prof. Norman Pearson, University of Guelph.

Treasurer A.H. Zimmerman, C.A., Vice President, Noranda Mines Ltd.

An Advisory Council to the Conference has been appointed from among invited participants.

Just who are these 130 people participating in the year-long Mid-Canada Development Conference?

It may be better to say first what they are NOT.

They are NOT politicians. This is not a study ordered by political parties or government. Six provincial governments are participating but they are represented by senior civil servants who have an expertise in Mid-Canada affairs. They are NOT representing foreign interests. A total of 77 companies and professional firms are participants and they are all Canadian controlled. This is one of the stipulations of membership.

They are NOT using public money. Participating companies pay a scaled membership of up to $5,000.00 which goes towards administrative costs for the conference sessions and three study trips through the Mid-Canada region. The twelve universities and the various native associations such as the Indian-Eskimo Association.

One final 'not.'

They are NOT making a policy and plan. Only governments can make policies.

The Conference Report in the Fall will simply state whether such nation-wide policies and plans are advisable and then provide recommendations or guide lines on how to create them. The Report will outline the problems and prove recommendations for further study.

Who are these people? They are Canadians, representatives of Canadian governments, Canadian companies, and Canadian associations who are taking their own time and money and committing it to a year-long study which asks the question: "Should Canada create nation-wide policies and plans for the orderly development of Mid-Canada?"

The Mid-Canada Development Conference delegates have been stressing the fact that Mid-Canada is the Green North. Igloos polar bears and treeless barrens belong to the Arctic, not Mid-Canada they point out. They quote statistics to show that the average daily temperatures in most of Mid-Canada are similar to those in much of Canada South. And at least until this third trip the weatherman has been backing them up.

Last August the First Session of the Conference had seven sunny days of temperatures in the high 80's. The location? Thunder Bay, the largest city in Mid-Canada. The Central Mid-Canada Tour in January started with 40 degrees below temperatures in Winnipeg which is considered Canada-South. But things improved as the Tour moved about Mid-Canada, Uranium City was 10 below, Yellowknife was 5 below, and Prince Albert provided a balmy 20 above reading. The delegates quickly zipped up the parkas as they returned to Winnipeg at the end of the tour, however, it was still 30 below!

Mid-Canada literature is expanding to meet a growing interest, particularly from the educational field. Geography classes in many Canadian high schools are now including "Mid-Canada studies" as part of their Canadian geography programs.

Wabush Recreation Centre news

Mr. Ed Kelly has been appointed to the Board of Trustees as Vice Chairman, replacing Mr. Wm. Krats. The Board now consists of:

Bill Rough Chairman
 Ed Kelly Vice Chairman
 Karl Rauchberger Secretary
 George Hicking Treasurer
 Miss Patti Boulet has been appointed Director of the Summer Youth Program for the children aged 6 to 15. She will be selecting 3 people to assist her. The program will run from June 29th to August 21st, Mondays to Fridays from 9 A.M. to 4 P.M.

Registration forms are available at J.R. Smallwood School or the Recreation Centre.

Activities will include softball, soccer, basketball, tennis, badminton, floor hockey, volleyball and hikes for the older students and playtime activities for the younger children.

A fee will be charged which will help cover the prizes, salaries and other expenses of the program. The necessary equipment has been ordered.

A repair and painting program has started at the Recreation Centre and new, colourful upholstered chairs have arrived which certainly look nice. As finances permit, more will likely be ordered to help make the building more attractive.

A strict policy is now in force regarding vandalism damage. Anyone caught defacing or damaging the building or equipment will be denied future use. Serious cases will be charged and parents will be notified. If we want a nice centre we must stop such irresponsible and senseless damage, which is caused by only a very few, both young and old.

A Youth Committee is being formed to cover special activities for teenagers and we expect keen interest in this phase of our plans.

The Saturday Games Night Volunteer Committee is active and profits are assisting us in sprucing up the Centre.

The Volunteer Life Guards and Swimming Instructors are still putting in hundreds of hours each month at the swimming pool. Three weeks ago they completely cleaned and painted the pool themselves and, with the assistance of the Mine Electrical Department, got some of the underwater lights repairs, and re-installed and operative. The Scuba Club is active and another Scuba Class graduated recently with one more in full swing. A Red Cross Water Safety Swimming Instructors' Class is about half completed and should graduate in July giving us 10 or 12 more instructors.

Eleven Adult Swimming Classes will be completed before the end of June and Summer Swimming Courses will start July 6th for people who will not be going away this summer. Application forms and information are available at the Recreation Centre Office. Larger lockers are being added to the Men's Locker Room.

The Amateur Boxing Club is being revived under the guidance of Bob Rayworth, recently appointed Director of Boxing for Newfoundland and Labrador by the Canadian Amateur Boxing Association.

Softball is underway, headed up by Gordon Martin and the Wabush Softball Committee which includes the Industrial League of 8 teams, a 3 team ladies league, and the Senior B All Star Team which will be going to Corner Brook on July 16-17-18-19 for the Newfoundland and Labrador Championship Series.

All games will be at the Wabush Softball Diamond south of the school, and the schedules will be as follows for the summer:

- Mondays - 6:00 P.M. - All Stars Practice
- Tuesdays - 6:00 P.M. - Industrial Game
- Wednesdays - 6:00 P.M. - Ladies' Game
- Thursdays - 6:00 P.M. - Industrial Game
- Fridays - 6:00 P.M. - Ladies' Game
- Saturdays - 1:00 P.M. - Industrial Game; 3:00 P.M. - Industrial Game; 6:00 P.M. - Industrial Game.
- Sundays - 2:00 P.M. - Industrial Game; 4:00 P.M. (Reserved for postponed); 6:00 P.M. - Industrial Game.

Ed Kelly represents the Board for Maintenance and Scheduling at the Ball Field and Tennis Courts, and like all other committees formed and being formed, volunteers to act on his committee are sought. Anyone wishing to help our Recreation Association is asked to contact any Board Member and let us know.

Friday July 31 to Tuesday August 4 two staff members of the Montreal Y.M.C.A. will be in Wabush to conduct a leadership clinic for all Committee Members, Team Managers and Coaches, Swimming Instructors, and anyone interested in Physical Education who wishes to participate. More later on this.

Water Polo has started and is in full swing Thursday and Sunday evenings at 10:00 P.M. at the pool.

TRAFFIC UP ON EUROPE RUN: Twenty two member airlines of the International Air Transport Association carried 5,996,236 passengers on scheduled flights between Europe and North America in 1969, an increase of 15% over 1968. IATA reports that passenger traffic between the United States and Europe last year was up 15.3% to 5,040,974. The 955,262 passengers carried on regular flights between Canada and Europe was 8% higher than the previous year. Charter passenger traffic carried by IATA members across the North Atlantic increased by 57.5% to 779,738. Increases were recorded in scheduled and charter cargo flights. Scheduled cargo traffic rose by 38.5% to 459,352 short tons while charter cargo carried totalled 13,509 short tons, an increase of 49.3% over 1968.

Gardening tips : plants from seed

BY
OF THE PLANT RESEARCH INSTITUTE, OTTAWA

As so many perennials such as iris, peonies and daylilies are grown from divisions, cuttings or purchased plants, we are apt to overlook the fact that many others may be grown successfully from seed. Indeed, some thrive better and live longer when grown this way.

Of course, to get the very best selected cultivators of most perennials, you must secure plants propagated vegetatively. Some do not always reproduce themselves true from seed.

For example, if you were to plant seed saved from a top rated iris such as Whole Cloth, chances are that of one thousand seedlings raised, only one would resemble this flower and it would probably be weaker in other respects.

On the other hand, by careful selection and saving certain colors year after year, breeders of delphiniums and lupins have developed strains that will come true from seed almost one hundred per cent. These are the Pacific giant delphiniums and the Russell strain of lupins.

However, there is a stipulation here too. You must purchase originators' strains only. Do not save seed from your own plants or else you will be back to where you started with a mixture of inferior kinds.

When dealing with straight species of plants such as the regal lily, rudbeckias and shasta daisies, you may expect to get plants true to type from seeds unless some hybridization has taken place without your knowledge. It is difficult, however, to tell a straight species unless the catalogue has placed the botanical name after them, such as Lilium regale for the regal lily, Redbeckia bicolor for rudbeckia and Chrysanthemum maximum for the shasta daisy.

Good success may be obtained by sowing seeds of the following perennials in the garden right now.

Single baby's breath (Gypsophila paniculata), balloon flower (Platycodon mariesi), indigo plant (Baptisia australis), perennial candytuft (Iberis sempervirens), columbine (Aquilegia, various strains), coreopsis or tickseed (Coreopsis verticillata, C. lanceolata), delphinium (Delphinium ajacis), evening primrose (Oenothera species), blanket flower (Gaillardia aristata), gas plant (Dictamnus albus), globe thistle (Echinops ritro), hollyhocks (Althaea), salvia (Salvia species) and veronica (Veronica species).

I prefer to sow these in prepared soil in flats that may be kept watered. However, if your soil is easy to work and reasonably weed-free sow in drills outside about the same as you would plant radishes.

As soon as the plants are large enough to handle they should be transplanted to a small area set aside as a nursery. Set the young plants about three to six inches apart in rows six inches to one foot wide. At this time decide how many plants you will really need, otherwise the tendency will be to fill your garden and exclude everything else. It is surprising the number of plants you will get from a single packet of seed; often enough delphiniums, when spaced at the proper distance, would fill a whole block of home gardens.

I didn't include Russell lupins in the easy-to-grow list, for these require special treatment. Their seeds are so hard that it is necessary to file them on one side and soak for a couple of days before planting. Since they are slow in germinating, I prefer planting them in pots where I can keep a closer watch for weeds.

For serious gardeners, the best way to raise perennials of all kinds is to construct a cold frame. In summer, the glass of polyethylene sheeting may be taken off and replaced with lath or snow fencing.

Under these semi-shady conditions, plants will flourish and grow much faster. A cold frame, such as this too, will grow good pansies if they are sown during the next two weeks. The frame may also be used in early spring for hardening off annuals.

Many alpine and rock garden perennials require quite different treatment for they must spend a winter outside before they show signs of germination. These include saxifragas, some primroses, ranunculuses, anemones, adonis and many others.

If in your plantings there are many seeds that do not germinate by fall, do not despair, for they will likely appear next spring. This happens frequently when seeds of trees and shrubs are sown - some of these require two winters before germination takes place.

Rules to follow for successful germination of perennial seeds are: a good friable soil; transplant when large enough to nursery beds; then place them in their permanent places early in the fall or next spring.

When making out an order for perennials include Sweet William, Siberian wallflower, Canterbury bell, forget-me-not and viola seeds, for these may be sown along with perennials and treated the same way.

On the local scene

The second Carol Brownies held their first pack holiday on Friday and Saturday May 29 and 30. Outdoor games were played Friday evening after which the girls were conducted on a tour of the Telephone Company by Mr. Al Christie. The Sprite Sixers won the Best Sixers of the Year plaque which will circulate among the girls. Each individual of this group received a Brownie Autograph Book. Badges presented to the Brownies for their various achievements are as follows: Artist, Elizabeth Kennedy and Collen Hurley, Golden Hand, Martha Tucker and Roxanne Whalen, Toymaker, Debby Woolridge, Jocelyn Whalen, Debby White and Catherine Williams. Golden Bar, Bryde Bolger, Carole Connors, Elizabeth Kennedy, Mary Burke, Wanda Power and Regina Taylor.

Will the little girl who drew the winning ticket for the Loyal Orange Lodge Boat Draw at the Labrador City Shopping Centre on Friday June 12, please contact Mr. John Peters at 944-2475?

To our many friends in Wabush and Labrador City we would like to say "Au-Revoir". We also extend our thanks for the farewell parties and gifts. We will take with us many fond memories of good times and fellowship spent with the Legionnaires Fellow Kin and Kinettes, as well as many other people. Kitty and Garnet Dursmore.

The final public hearing of the Royal Commission on Labour Legislation will be held in Churchill Falls on June 19 and 20. The hearings will be held at the Town Centre from 2:30 to 5 p.m. on Friday and from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, June 20th.

MIND TEASER

If 3 times the smaller of two numbers, whose total is 98, is 8 less than the larger number, what are these two numbers?

ANSWER

22½ and 75½. Subtract 8 from 98; divide by the sum of 3 and 1 for the smaller number; subtract from 98 for the larger.

Fishing and Mining

COD BRINGS ICELAND PROSPERITY

REYKJAVIK, ICELAND: Record cod catches and improved world prices have brought relative prosperity to Iceland after three years of economic crisis. Iceland, which in March became the 9th member of the European Free Trade Association, is hoping for a happier future. Its 200,000 people live by fishing, which provides almost all the country's exports. Only 1% of Iceland's land area is under cultivation. The economic crisis was caused by the depletion of herring stocks in the area between Iceland and Norway in 1967. Herring has comprised nearly half of Iceland's exports. Over-fishing was blamed for the herring scarcity and the Soviet Union, was generally held responsible, since its herring fleet fished there throughout the year. At the same time, there was a heavy slump in world prices for fish and fish products. In November 1968, there was a devaluation of the local currency by 35%. The new parity was established at 88 to the U.S. dollar. This devaluation strengthened industry while Iceland sought EFTA membership in a bid for increased European outlets. Meanwhile, the fishermen went out to catch different types of fish and the small caplin, the big Greenland halibut popular in Belgium, the Norwegian pout and scallops helped bring in substained income. This year the cod season, which started in January and extended to mid-May, established records. The total catch of about 215,000 tons far exceeds the 165,000 tons caught in 1969, which was regarded as a better than average year. The total catch of all types of fish for the first four months of this year was 450,000 tons. It was only 670,000 tons for the whole of 1969. Higher prices have been coupled with the bigger catches. In the United States the wholesale price of frozen cod has risen to 29 cents per pound, compared with 21 cents last year. Cod prices also are higher in the U.K. and Western Germany. Optimism and confidence is rising in Iceland's fisheries, affecting trade and general life in the country. The first steps are being taken to renovate the obsolete trawler fleet. A contract was recently signed with a Polish shipyard to build two 1,000-ton trawlers, and a decision will be taken soon on building six more. The Government recently proposed revaluing the krona (the local currency) upward on the grounds that this was better than increasing wages and risking inflation. But the proposal was allowed to lapse after opposition from employers and labor leaders.

STEELWORKERS DRAIN STRIKE FUND

TORONTO, ONTARIO: Canadian members of the United Steelworkers of America drew $8,109,000.00 more for the international union strike fund in 1968-1969 than they paid into it. William Mahoney, Canadian director of the steel workers' union, commenting on the gap in a statement to the union membership, said Canadians cannot continue to drain the strike fund at the expense of the U.S. members and must start paying their own way. His comments are contained in a recent issue of Steel Labor, the union's publication. A financial accounting of the strike fund shows that since 1 Jan. 1968, Canadians paid $4,170,548.00 into it and drew out $12,279,385.00. Most of the strike fund assistance was paid out in 1969 - the year of the big strikes in the Iron Ore, basic steel and at International Nickel Co., of Canada. The strike fund is made up of payments representing one-third of monthly union dues in excess of $5.00 per month. Dues are based on 2 hours pay a month, with a $5.00 minimum and a $10.00 maximum. The report in Steel Labor says the large subsidy from U.S. members has enabled Canadian members to make massive breakthroughs on the wage front in 1969, but it has left the reserves of the members in the United States weakened at a time when more than 500,000 of them face bargaining with the U.S. basic steel and non-ferrous metal industries. The discrepancy between payments to the fund and benefits that were drawn by Canadian members was most marked in the last half of 1969. Payments from Canadian locals totalled $308,737.00 and benefits received by Canadian steelworkers on strike reached $10,814.00. Mr. Mahoney said that as long as Canadian members do not come near to paying their own way, their success at the bargaining table will be bought at the cost of weakening bargaining power of the members in the United States. He said he would ask the Canadian locals to consider ways of not only paying their own way but of making sure that the U.S. members do not confront their next collective bargaining challenge unduly weakened by generosity to Canadians.

YOUR NUMBER SIR: The rube from the mountains, with the snaggle-toothed blonde clinging to his arm, pick up the hotel desk pen and signed the register with an O.

Amused, the clerk said, "I've seen enough people sign with an X, but I never saw anyone use an O before."

"Nothing' so eccentric about it," said the rube casting a furtive glance at the blonde. "When I'm runnin' around in the city with wild women, I never use my right name."

MOTHER & DAUGHTER: Ralph: "Did you see how pleased Mrs. Smith was when I told her she didn't look a day older than her daughter?"

Sam: "No! I was too busy watching the expression on her daughter's face."

FIDELITY: The ship's captain returned from a two year voyage and found his wife nursing a month-old baby.

"Who did this?" the captain demanded. "Was it my friend Bob Bown?"

"No," said the wife.

"Well, was it John Connors?"

"No."

Could it have been Mike Moore?"

Then the wife said, "Always YOUR friends. Don't you think I have friends of my own?"

THE WILD ONES: A truck driver went into a restaurant and ordered a steak and coffee. Shortly, a gang of eight motorcyclists roared up, parked, and went inside. The leader walked over to the truck driver and put a cigarette into the driver's steak. Another gang member put his cigar in the coffee. The driver got up, paid his bill and drove off. "Not much of a man, that truck driver," said the leader. "Not much of a truck driver, either," commented the waitress, "he just ran over eight motorcycles."

BEAUTIFUL BUT DUMB: At a cocktail party, the bosomy blonde was, as usual, the center of the men's attraction, but she had eyes for only one of them - a tall, handsome, sensible-looking actor.

The thespian, however, never seemed to notice her. In fact, he seemed embarrassed by her flirtations, and when his room-mate, who had come to pick him up, finally arrived, the actor breathed a sigh of relief and departed. After the actor had gone, a friend consoled the blonde by saying, "Don't be unhappy. I think the man was effeminate."

To which the blonde snorted, "Effeminate? I'd call him a near miss."

HAIR: The romantic young suitor drew his girl's little brother aside. "How'd you like to make a quarter, Tommy?" "Sure," replied Tommy. "What should I do?"

"Could you get me a lock of your sister's hair?" asked the young man.

"It's a cinch," declared Tommy. "For a buck I'll get the whole wig."

TWO LOVES: One day a husband arrived home earlier than usual and found his wife in the arms of his best friend.

Quickly his friend said, "We're civilized people. I've discovered that I love your wife and I think she loves me. Here's what I want you to do. Let's play a game of Gin Rummy for her. If you lose I want you to divorce her and I'll marry her. If I lose I promise never to see her again. How about it?"

The husband thought for a moment, then replied. "Okay, it's a deal - but to make it more interesting, how about also playing for a dollar a game and a penny a point?"

Solve-a-crime

By A.C. Gordon

You are a witness to a tragedy this morning. As you are walking along the business section of the city the air is suddenly rent by piercing screams as a man's body comes hurtling down from a window of the tall office building and strikes sickeningly on the pavement. Acting on impulse, you are at the victim's side almost before a heavy attache case lands out on the street about fifteen feet beyond the body, and bursts open, and floods of papers and documents all about.

"It's Charles Lacey!" exclaims someone in the quickly gathering throng of horrified people.

You proceed into the office building and upon questioning the elevator operators, learn that the wealthy attorney has been visiting the offices of Caldwell and Patterson, stock brokers. You are whisked in one of the elevators to the twelfth floor where, in their lavishly-furnished suits of offices you confront the two distraught partners.

"It all happened so suddedly!" exclaims Caldwell. "Charles Lacey has been doing a good bit of legal work for us. We were discussing some of these matters this morning, just as usual. We had just finished our business, and Lacey got up from his chair, picked up his attache case, said he had another appointment in twenty minutes, and was apparently ready to leave. Then he sauntered over to the window . . . commented on what a fine view of the city we have from here. Then, before I realized what was happening, he leaned out of the window too far, lost his balance, and topped out! I'll never forget those screams as he . . ." Caldwell shudders and bows his head staring fixedly at the carpet.

"I had already bid him goodbye," Patterson then breaks in. "I was on my way back to my private office when I heard the screams. I wheeled around . . . but Lacey was already gone, his attache case still clutched in his hand. Horrible . . . horrible!"

"Horrible isn't a strong enough word for it," you say. "I'm inclined to think that further questioning of you two men will reveal that his was no accident - that Lacey was pushed out of that window!"

What is your reasoning in this case?

SOLUTION

You had already noticed that the victim's attache case landed on the street several seconds after this body. Had he been holding it when he fell, it would have landed at approximately the same time as the body. The fact that it landed several seconds later and several feet beyond the body - and also the fact that Patterson claimed he didn't see the actual fall, but still referred to the attache case clutched in Lacey's hand - leads you to believe that Lacey was pushed from the window and then his attache case thrown down after him.

A prayer for the middle-aged

BY LAURA PATTERSON

Lord thou knowest better than I know myself that I am growing older and someday will be old.

Keep me from the fatal habit of thinking I must say something on every subject and on every occasion.

Release me from craving to straighten out everybody's affairs, make me thoughtful but not moody, helpful but not bossy.

With my vast store of wisdom it seems a pity not to use it all, but thou knowest, Lord, that I want a few friends in the end.

Keep my mind free from the recital of endless details, give me wings to get to the point.

Seal my lips on aches and pains.

The love of rehearsing them is becoming sweeter as the years go by.

I dare not ask for grace enough to enjoy the tales of others but help me to endure them with patience.

I dare not ask for improved memory but for a growing humility and lessening self pride, cocksuredness; when my memories seem to clash with the memories of others, teach me the glorious lesson that occasionally I may be mistaken.

Keep me reasonably sweet, I do not aspire to be a saint, but a sour old person is one of the crowning works of the devil.

Give me the ability to see good things in unexpected places and talents in unexpected people.

Give me the grace to tell them so.
