Improving TV picture

A Release from Peter J. Walsh, P.C. Candidate for the District of Labrador West in the forthcoming provincial election.

I am pleased with recent developments in Radio & Television for the Labrador City-Wabush area. It would appear that our arguments for better communications have met with some success. It is, I hope, just the beginning of even more improvements to come—and not the final solution to an ongoing problem.

We have been promised live TV as soon as a Satellite has been placed in orbit, sometime in 1972. I hope thought is now being given to the construction of a receiving station and that we will not be told, when the Satellite is in orbit, that a receiving station is not feasible. Perhaps thought should also be given to the eventual establishment of our own radio outlet for the Labrador City-Wabush area. One private radio station from the Island has been attempting to establish such a station here for a number of years but, as yet, has met with little success.

I pledge my efforts to seek continued improvements in both TV and Radio for our area, and I ask for public support of my efforts.

number of our recently recorded album on sale at the following outlets: Gaetane Mode, Bouchard Men's Wear, Drug Store in Labrador City and at 59 Anderson in Wabush.

The quality of the recording and diversity of the selections make this album a pleasing souvenir of our group and we invite you to purchase it at the low price of $4.00.

We wish to express our thanks to the above establishments who are very generously distributing our albums gratuitously.

Editorially Speaking

CANADIANA: Where do the people of this country live? Where do they earn the highest wages? In this and future articles we will discuss these and other Canadian subjects, on a fairly regular basis.

We were rather surprised at some new figures released by the Federal Government. For instance, what (3) areas (an area to be included in the following statistics, must have a population of 25,000 or more in the general working and shopping radius) have the highest wages and salaries in Canada. According to the latest D.B.S. figures: 1. Sept Iles, P.Q., $168.02 per week. 2. Sarnia, Ont., $165.80. 3. Sudbury, Ont., $158.94. And on the other end of the scale we find Yarmouth, N.S. at the bottom $84.24, per week: slightly above are Truro, N.S. at $86.67 and Charlottetown, P.E.I. $87.40. The national average $128.97, per week.

Where do the people of Canada live? According to the latest Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures practically half (48.9%) live in 19 metropolitan areas. Montreal still is the most populous urban area in Canada with 2,570,000 inhabitants, but its growth rate last year at .7% was one of the lowest of the nation's 19 largest cities. Vancouver and Calgary chalked up the largest population gains last year, each more than doubling the rate of population growth for Canada as a whole. A recent report places Canada's population at 21,377,000 up 1.5% from the 21,061,000 a year earlier. The total population of the 19 listed metropolitan areas rose to 10,447,000 from 10,273,000 an increase of 1.7%. The following are the populations of the 19 centres, with percentage change from a year earlier, plus average wages:

1. St. John's, Nfld. 111,000 up .9%. Average wage $102.50 per week.
2. Halifax, N.S. 204,000 unchanged. Average wage $108.46 per week.
3. Saint John, N.B. 101,000 unchanged. Average wage $109.88 per week.
4. Quebec City, P.Q. 436,000 up 1.4%. Average wage $113.74 per week.
5. Montreal, P.Q. 2,570,000 up .7%. Average wage $127.43 per week.
6. Ottawa, Ont. 536,000 up 1.7%. Average wage (inc. Hull) $122.19, p.w.
7. Toronto, Ont. 2,366,000 up 2.2%. Average wage $136.85 per week.
8. Hamilton, Ont. 484,000 up 1.0%. Average wage $137.95 per week.
9. Kitchener, Ont. 210,000 up 2.4%. Average wage $119.77 per week.
10. London, Ont. 288,000 up 1.8%. Average wage $123.45 per week.
11. Windsor, Ont. 266,000 up 1.3%. Average wage $154.65 per week.
12. Sudbury, Ont. 124,000 up 1.6%. Average wage $158.94 per week.
13. Winnipeg, Man. 545,000 up 2.1%. Average wage $111.55 per week.
14. Regina, Sask. 141,000 up .7%. Average wage $112.09 per week.
15. Saskatoon, Sask. 128,000 down .8%. Average wage $111.72 per week.
16. Calgary, Alba. 387,000 up 3.2%. Average wage $130.48 per week.
17. Edmonton, Alba. 449,000 up 2.7%. Average wage $126.63 per week.
18. Vancouver, B.C. 1,012,000 up 3.3%. Average wage $136.23 per week.
19. Victoria, B.C. 189,000 up 2.7%. Average wage $118.80 per week.

A new all-Canada census will be conducted this June.

Here 'n' There

OIL PRICES TO INCREASE: Regardless of the outcome of the demands made in Tehran between the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and the oil-consuming nations of the West, you can safely bet that crude oil prices are going up, and by a considerable amount. This in turn means higher gasoline prices in areas of Canada that use imported crude, the Maritimes, Quebec and Eastern Ontario. Meanwhile, with their tough demands and unstable supplies make it harder and harder to do business with the oil-rich OPEC countries (10 Middle East Nations plus Venezuela and Indonesia), the oil companies of the West will have a stronger incentive than ever to find new alternate sources of crude. In Canada, this new pressure should mean stepped-up exploration, especially in the Far North and Atlantic Provinces.

BREVITY & BITE: A move by the city of Montreal to suppress the activities of astrologers and fortune tellers brought forth a recent letter to a Montreal -English paper, which we read with admiration. Mr. Merrill Denison wrote: "I think it most unfair to crack down on John Manolesco and all those other soothsayers when there are so many economists running around loose."

NEW NFLD. BOND ISSUE PLACED: The Newfoundland $20 million bond issue has been placed among international buyers, the banking firm of N.M. Rothschild & Sons Ltd. announced earlier this month. The 15-year bonds, to provide Eurodollars for the provincial government, are being issued at 99.5 with a coupon interest rate of 8.5%. Underwriters are international banks led by Rothschild. Dealings are expected to start on the Luxembourg stock exchange later this month.

ANY QUESTIONS? When it come to figuring the effects of price increases on consumer's habits, customary rules of thumb don't seem to apply to the liquor business. In Ontario prices have gone up 14% in the past five years, but the volume of liquor bought has gone up, too. Here are some figures recently released by Distillers Corp.—Seagrams Ltd. On a bottle of VO brand whisky, the federal government (through sales and excise tax) now takes in 11% more than it did in April 1966; the provincial government (through markup and sales tax) takes in 23% more. (The company, incidentally gets only a penny more, $1.24 instead of $1.23.) According to Seagrams when the price goes up, the customer trades down. In short, he buys a cheaper brand. This means that he paid $5.50 for VO in 1966, yielding the provincial government its markup of $2.30. But now, with VO priced at $6.30, he'll switch to, say Five Star, at $5.35 (out of which the distiller gets 84c.) And for that, the governments markup is only $2.10. All perfectly clear.

SCHOOL FOR BACHELORS: Sophie de Lange, 63, is opening a school for bachelors in Amsterdam, Holland, because "bachelors are the unhappiest people on earth, unhappier by far than old maids." Her primary course will include sewing, knitting, pressing, cleaning, cooking, furnishing a home, and "pleasing the ladies."

SWEDISH SLOWDOWN: Sweden's economic growth is declining sharply and should be down to 2.9% in 1971 vs an estimated 4.2% in 1970, according to the Swedish Institute for Economic Research. Expansion reached its climax in the first three months of 1970 and has been slowing ever since. The institute estimates 1970 export growth at 10% and thinks that foreign sales will go up another 9% in 1971.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

"POOR T.V. HOURS"

The Editor
The Aurora
Labrador City.

Dear Sir:

Well, our Television Programs seem to be a little better, but what's the use, if one has to stay up so late or go on the midnight shift (12 to 8); not much is it! I and a lot of other people think our best shows are presented too late. It's all right for men who work 4 to 12, but then its fifteen or twenty minutes too early. I like "Gunsmoke" which is on tonight at 11:30, but I must go to work. So lets have these movies earlier! Another thing we should have is the "News of Nfld." every night at 6:30 or 7:00 p.m. I suggest "News Cavalcade." I'm sure more than one person would agree with me. "Lassie" should be on in English for our kids as well as the French kids. Take this foolishness like "Bobino" which is on five days a week; once would be quite sufficient. (If the T.V. is off). I bet we couldn't get a show like "Lassie" or "Skippy" five days a week; now would we?

It's time for a big change. We are here to work for your company, I.O.C.C., so treat us to our night life as we were used to. I can't see why we can't have another channel, so we could have French on one, English on the other. It can't be impossible! Nothing is; "man was on the moon."

—VERY CONCERNED FAMILY MAN.

Import demand is expected to slow to a growth rate of 5% vs 9.5% in 1970. Canadian sales to Sweden rose nearly 30% in 1970.

USE OF MARIJUANA RISING: A researcher with the Ontario Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Foundation, Reginald Smart, said that every high school student in Metropolitan Toronto will have smoked marijuana at least once by 1975 if the use continues to rise at the present rate.

MCNAMARA CORP.: Toronto-based Gunnar Mining recently bought McNamara Industries Ltd. of St. John's, Nfld. for $1.6 million. McNamara was owned by the Newfoundland government. McNamara Industries was managed during the last 11 years under an agreement with a wholly-owned Gunnar subsidiary, McNamara Corp. Ltd. of Toronto. The St. John's company runs a $6 million steel fabricating plant. The former government enterprise has SUBSTANTIAL TAX CREDITS AVAILABLE because it has not claimed depreciation expenses for tax purposes. Gunnar also has changed its name to Bovis Corp. Ltd. It is 57.7% held by Bovis Holdings Ltd. of London, England. The Toronto company, through McNamara Corp., is engaged in heavy civil engineering on the Churchill Falls power station and Manitoba's Kettle Rapids hydro-electric project. McNamara Corp. recently was awarded a $9 million contract by Iron Ore Company of Canada Ltd. to build a tunnelling and connecting shaft at the Carol Project, Labrador City.

WINE PRODUCERS PROTEST: Recently wine producers covered railway lines with barricades of flaming tires, blocked highways and promised "incredible chaos" to protest imports of foreign wine. An estimated 20,000 demonstrators gathered in the city of Montpellier as grape growers over a wide area of southern France answered a call for a national day of action.

TOO BUSY TO MARRY: Madame Desachy, who became France's top marriage broker after her own marriage failed, reports her best clients are moneyed businessmen who've been too busy to meet women. Among the lady customers, her best are fashion models and air hostesses. "Their professions give men complexes," claims Madame. "Men flirt with them, but they don't tend to propose marriage."

"Hey — Wait a Minute"

BY YOUR CANDID LAYMAN

SHOULD HOUSEWIVES WORK: First let me say this scribe's answer to his own question is an emphatic "NO."

The answer is based on two of the most pressing problems facing Canada today; the increase in juvenile delinquency, and the rising number of unemployed across the land.

Where does juvenile delinquency get its start? In the home. In the home because of the lack of discipline, existant where the husband and wife are both working. How often do we see a woman going back to work a few weeks after the birth of a child. Grannie is usually the one given the task of feeding the baby, changing the diapers, and with giving the child some form of love; a love which cannot, by any stretch of the imagination, match the love of the mother. This goes on year after year, and the child unconsciously develops an attitude of wildness because Grannie just couldn't bear to spank the 'little darling' when he or she misbehaves. Given this license to misbehave without any form of instant correction, the time comes when the wildness leads the child into some form of juvenile delinquency: stealing from stores; sniffing glue; smoking marijuana; using drugs; stealing cars; and the many other forms of delinquency which come before the nation's courts. To the child it is a great game, and then when it finds itself in court and is given its first real taste of correction it rebels against what it calls the establishment, and the parents wonder what happened.

Add to this licence, the increased pocket money made available to the child. It's wonderful for the parents to give the child a couple of dollars so they can head out to a party, to bingos (sometimes every night of the week), and the child can go to a show or spend time playing pool.

Always the responsibility of looking after the child is given to someone else. Until parents accept the responsibility which goes hand in hand with the pleasures of parenthood, there will be no decrease in the rising rate of juvenile delinquency.

Every job held by a married woman can be held by either a man with a family or by a single man or woman. It is all wrong that one family should have two incomes when other families have to exist on what society has classed as a minimum living level and this level is grudgingly made available to these people by many of the affluent.

The ranks of the unemployed will grow with the passing of each year as the universities and high schools disgorge their products on the labor market. Your sons and daughters will be among those dumped on the labor market, but because married women are allowed to add a second wage packet to their household, your son or daughter could find themselves without a job.

Are you unwittingly contributing to your child's future life of possible delinquency and or unemployment?

Wages recovered

Over three thousand nine hundred dollars in wage recoveries resulted from action by the Department of Labour in January.

The Minister of Labour, the Honourable W.J. Keough said today that out-of-court settlements under The Minimum Wage Act accounted for $3,364.33 of the recoveries. This action affected 61 employees of 13 employers. Prosecution of an employer under The Minimum Wage Act resulted in the employer's being ordered to pay $313.50 in wages to one employee.

Under The Workmen's Wages Act $277.80 was recovered in back wages in out-of-court settlements from six employers on behalf of six employees.

Action taken against an employer under The Annual

Mind teaser

If 3 cats catch 6 mice in 3 minutes, how long will it take 25 cats to catch 25 mice?

ANSWER

1-1/2 minute. Each cat catches one mouse in 1-1/2 minute.

Vacations With Pay Act resulted in one employee being paid $34.00 through an out-of-court settlement.

The Minister said many employers are under the mistaken impression that their employees do not qualify for vacation pay until they have been employed for a continuous twelve-month period.

He explained that the reference in The Annual Vacations With Pay Act to a "twelve-month" period is to be applied in determining an employee's eligibility to a vacation period of at least two weeks.

If the employee's employment is terminated before he has worked a year the employer must pay within a week vacation pay equal to four per cent of the employee's total wage for the period.

In other words, employees, who have not worked long enough to establish their right to a two week paid vacation, must be paid the vacation pay to which they are entitled, regardless of the length or duration of their employment period.

Social, Personal

Mrs. F. W. Houghton, formerly Mrs. Nita E. Wood, was guest of honour at a surprise party held at the Royal Canadian Legion, Wabush on Friday, the 29th January.

Mrs. Bernard Walsh and Mrs. Roy Coppin organized the affair at which about 85 guests were present.

"Nita" was presented with a complete set of stainless steel cookware with matching electric frying pan and an electric broom. The balance of the gift collection will be used to add a piece of her own choice to Nita's "Pinwheel" crystal.

There passed peacefully away at the Sir Thomas Roddick Hospital on January 5th, Alfred Joseph McKay of Stephenville Crossing aged 77 years.

The late Alfred McKay was born August 26th, 1893 at Sandy Point, Bay St. George. He joined the Reid Newfoundland Railway Company, August 9th 1909 and retired from the Canadian National Railway, August 31st 1958. He was a life member of the Grand Falls Masonic Lodge and during his service with the railway he held several positions in the Railway Telegraphers Union, at the time of his death he was the treasurer of All Saints Anglican Church, Stephenville Crossing. On June 18th, 1964, he and his wife, (the former Margaret Benoit) celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his wife Margaret, (Maggie), three sons, Howard Frederick at Stephenville, Alfred Joseph at Stephenville Crossing, Thomas Douglas, Labrador City, one daughter, Marjorie Myrtle (Mrs. Ev. Morris), Fairbault, Minnesota, U.S.A., fifteen grandchildren, fifteen great grandchildren, one brother, Mr. Norman McKay of Stephenville Crossing and a large circle of other relatives and friends both in Canada and U.S.A.

Funeral services for the late Mr. McKay were conducted from All Saints Anglican Church, Stephenville Crossing on January 8th by the Suffragan Bishop of Newfoundland, the Right Reverend W. G. Legge and the Reverend Lloyd Collett, rector of the parish of Bay St. George.

The family of the late Alfred Joseph McKay wish to thank all those who sent floral tributes, letters, cards and messages of sympathy. Special thanks are extended to the doctors and nurses of the Sir Thomas Roddick Hospital, the pall-bearers and especially to Mr. Raymond McKay.

Scanning the Market

By C.S.D.

Here is how two top Canadian analysts view the market for the next six months:

1. "UPSURGE WILL CONTINUE, WITH DOW AVERAGE REACHING 950, TSE AT 195." At this point, my forecast for both Canadian and U.S. stock markets is that the present upsurge will continue. Projected target is 950 on the Dow-Jones industrial average in 1971, and a level of 195 on the Toronto Stock Exchange industrial index.

At present, the strongest-looking stock groups in Canada are cement, steel, utilities, engineering, heavy construction, gas transmission, chemicals, integrated oils, and real estate. It is expected that by midyear the lumber-pulp and paper group and mining issues should start to show recovery.

In summary, it seems safe to say that we will have an advancing market for at least the next six months. When you consider what the prospects were in mid-1970, it's a wonderful feeling.

In the U.S., the outlook for 1971 calls for a growth in the gross national product of about 7 per cent, rising to a fourth quarter 1971 level of US $1,045 billion, the first time the U.S. will pass the $1 trillion mark on an annual rate. Price inflation should be about 3.8 per cent (5 per cent in 1970) and housing expenditures should climb 22 per cent vs an 8 per cent decline in 1970. Personal expenditures for consumer goods and services should rise 7.5 per cent in 1971 (6.75 per cent increase in 1970), and business inventory investment should total $6,000 million vs $2,500 million in 1970. Unemployment, which stood at 4.25 per cent in the first quarter, 1970, hit a nine year peak of 6 per cent in December 1970. Present forecasts indicate that this rate should drop to 4.5 per cent by mid-1972. Present indications are that the U.S. will have a mild recovery in 1971 and stronger growth in 1972. This will be financed in part by a budget deficit in the 1971-72 period of between US $10,000 million-US $15,000 million, which compares with an estimated US $3,000 million deficit in 1970.

In Canada, 1971 production is expected to increase 5 per cent (3 per cent in 1970) with a price inflation of 3.5 per cent (4 per cent in 1970). Retail sales are expected to grow 6 per cent (3 per cent in 1970).

Average unemployment in Canada in 1970 was 6.1 per cent and in 1971 the rate is expected to average 6.6 per cent. Housing starts, which hit a record of 210,000 in 1969 and dropped to 190,000 in 1970, are expected to increase to 215,000 in 1971. Canada will also experience a mild recovery in 1971, which should blossom into a strong economy in 1972.

Thus it seems that 1970 was a year of mini-recession in the U.S. economy and the severe shakeout in the stock market has brought investors to a greater level of sanity.

2. A YEAR TO BE MORE AGGRESSIVE: With the Canadian economy fundamentally sound and steadily improving, we look at 1971 equity and bond markets with a degree of confidence and enthusiasm that, until recently, was not possible. Current and expected investment atmosphere in Canada and the U.S. is such that a still cautious but somewhat more aggressive approach to investments now appear warranted.

U.S. and Canadian governments have had enough of trying to deflate the economy through scare and expensive credit, and are attempting now to reduce unemployment by making available cheaper and more abundant credit. This should tend to stimulate business activity.

I believe inflation is here to stay and will slowly tend to regain momentum, helped along by the continuing demands by labor for higher wages. In view of improving overall economic conditions and investor confidence, although 1971 may be punctuated by pauses and setbacks, I doubt that any reactions will carry lower than about 800 on the Dow Jones industrials.

But if that should occur, it would seem to offer an excellent opportunity for bargain-hunters.

As we come out of the recession, I see 1971 as a year of moderate growth, with a possible rise to 900-950 (DJI) later in the year.

Soundly based quality issues warranting investor attention now, or on any weakness, would include Alcan, Steel Co., of Canada, Canron Ltd., Gulf Oil Canada, Trans-Mountain Pipe, Walkers G. and W., and Mat-tagami Lake Mines.

Mind Teasers

A group of friends are traveling to a camping site in three cars, one behind the other. The number of passengers in the first car is 2 more than in the second car, and the total of passengers in the second and third cars is 3 more than in the first car. If there are 19 passengers in all, how many are there in each car?

ANSWER

8, 6, and 5, respectively. Let X equal number in second car, and (X plus 2) the number in the first car. Then (X plus 2) minus 3, or (X minus 1) equals number in third car. Form equation: X plus (X plus 2) plus (X minus 1) equals 19. Solve for X, the number in the second car.

If there are 3 promotions forthcoming in an office force of 5 men, in how many different combinations can these 3 promotions be given out to these 5 workers?

ANSWER

60 different ways. For promotion No. 1, there is a choice of 5 men; for No. 2 a choice of 4 men; and for No. 3 a choice of 3 men. Thus, the possible variations are 5 times 4 times 3.

CANADIAN AIR FARES GOING UP: Air Canada and CP Air announced last week they have applied for an increase in Canadian passenger fares effective March 6th. This would be the second fare increase in 6 months. Under the new fares, the price of each economy-class ticket will increase $2 plus one-tenth of a cent a mile. On some very short hauls (St. John's—Gander) the increase will be limited to $2.00. The two major Canadian airlines also announced they plan to file for increased freight and express rates in the near future. Under the new passenger fare system a one-way economy-class ticket between Toronto and Vancouver will cost $133 compared with the present $128, Montreal to Halifax $41 compared with $38, Winnipeg to Edmonton $55 compared with $52 and Toronto to St. John's $89 compared with $85. The airlines also announced other changes. A $5 stopover charge will be dropped and fares involving stopovers will be calculated in the total of individual fares between cities.

On the local scene

1971 WINTER CARNIVAL: Plans for the Labrador West Winter Carnival are just about complete and only a few minor details remain to be ironed out. We will be publishing a complete schedule of events in subsequent issues. Definite commitments have been received from Bowring's Ltd., Woolworth's, Ayre's Ltd., Sir Wilfred Grenfell Hotel and Ashuanipi Social Club to sponsor a Princess in this year's Carnival. One of the major items agreed to, at a recent meeting of the Carnival Committee, will allow residents to visit the majority of clubs in our area during the carnival (provided they wear Carnival toques and buttons) without paying a cover charge. To date the following have subscribed to this plan: Sir Wilfred Grenfell Hotel, Wabush Recreation Centre, Royal Canadian Legion No. 57 (Wabush), Ashuanipi Social Club, Tanya Sno-Cart Club, and O'Brien Hall. Several others are also expected to signify their intention of concurring with this move. Friday 12 March has been declared a school holiday in both towns and a full schedule of sporting events are being planned for the day. On Friday night the High School Queen will be crowned by the Hon. R. L. Stanfield, Federal Opposition Leader, and former Premier of Nova Scotia. Saturday will see the crowning of the Carnival Queen at the Labrador City Arena and Coronation Ball at the Ashuanipi Social Club (Dress Casual), Sunday the major event is the Carnival Parade followed by a series of Sno Cart races and at night several dances.

Next week we will pass on the major events planned for the last three days of Carnival. Because of Wednesday 17 March being a local holiday it has been decided to hold the closing dance at the Wabush Rec. Centre on Tuesday 16 March. Residents are advised that (3) cash prizes will be awarded this year, for the Snow Sculpture contest. So start early.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

Last summer we wrote two editorials on the advantages (and one or two disadvantages) of our area adhering to Atlantic Summer Time. Aurora then stated it was too late for any action in 1970 but suggested February 1971 would be a good time to start the ball rolling. Well this is February 17th 1971 and to our knowledge, but for a resolution of support from one local group, little action has been taken.

We will be contacting various organizations over the next few days as to their opinions on the move. Possibly what will be required is a local poll and if we get some support Aurora will prepare a ballot for our 3 March edition.

In the meantime, a few letters to the editor on this subject could help create discussion.

PAINTING HINT

If you'll drive a nail partially into the bottom of each leg of a table or chair, and stand the furniture on these nails, it will make the job of painting the legs much easier and avoid the annoyance of their sticking to the floor as they dry — (Gene Von).

CURLING: Congratulations to Jim Ward and his fellow curlers Jerry, Dick and Jim on the terrific show they put up at the Mens Provincial Curling Championship at Corner Brook, last week. They were nosed out 10-9 by the more experienced Cole rink of St. John's. At this writing, I haven't spoken to the boys on the tournament, but it must have been tremendously exciting. Again congrats on a good show.

IT DID HAPPEN BEFORE: Came across the following recently and feel it does "goes to show" that it "could happen again."

"Things go so bad on the West Coast, and the people of the area were so infuriated by the indifference of the government at St. John's that in 1890 more than 5,000 persons signed a petition and sent it to the British Government, requesting that the Western section of Newfoundland would become a part of Canada. The petition, however, met no response from the Home authorities. It took time and the settlement of the French Shore Question before Western Newfoundland could feel that it was part of greater Newfoundland. It took the great development of the paper industry at Corner Brook to strengthen that feeling." Sound familiar!

Eastern Provincial Airways:

According to figures recently released by E.P.A. the airline is becoming quite an important employer in Eastern Canada, with the 1970 payroll in excess of Five Million Dollars. Here is the breakdown by Province: Newfoundland, $3,107,990. New Brunswick, $1,115,471. Quebec, $732,034. P.E.I., $126,512. Nova Scotia, $75,710. For a grand total of $5,157,717.

The lighter side

FILL HIM UP: "Sure, I know I work too hard," the patient told his doctor. "But I didn't come here to have you tell me to stop burning the midnight oil!"

"Then what can I do for you?"

"Your can give me some more oil," snapped the patient.

MODIFICATION REQUIRED: An old farmer who lived in a remote section of the country had resisted every change in farming methods for the last two generations. His aversion to tractors was well known in the community where he farmed his 400 acres entirely with horses and mules. But one day an enterprising tractor salesman came to the farm and persuaded the old man to put on a demonstration. The salesman hooked up a plow and in a very few minutes had plowed up a field of ten acres.

"Well, how did you like that?" he asked as he stopped the tractor in front of the old farmer.

"Mighty fine, mighty fine," admitted the farmer, "and I'll take one when you make one change in them. When you can get those 250 horses' power in that there engine to produce fertilizer, I'll buy a couple of them!"

WHY SO CLEAN? Mama said, "Stanley, please go back into the bathroom and wash you hands again. They're still dirty!"

"Gee, Mom," sulked Stanley, "I'm only gonna eat. I'm not gonna operate on somebody's gall bladder!"

BE PREPARED: Heller & Son, Housepainters, was a partnership built on sand. The father was a meticulous, painstaking workman who believed in old-fashioned methods; the son was an impetuous, up-and-coming lad who liked to keep abreast of the newest developments. One day, the pair were painting a skyscraper, and were up on the forty-fifth floor. Suddenly the rope at the son's end of the scaffold gave way and the two men went cascading into space. The father passed the son at about the twenty-second floor, and just had time to scream as he whizzed by: "This will teach you and your darn boy-scouts knots!"

BEAUTY IS ONLY SKIN DEEP: As the homely old man and woman walked down the street with their beautiful, shapely daughters, they overheard some wisecracks on the street corner remarking as to how an ugly couple could have such gorgeous offsprings. The old man turned around and snapped, "What the hell! We don't make them with our faces!"

MARRIAGE AND SALES TAX: From the Wall Street Journal: "Under a new state ruling, a New Mexico clergyman who charges a fee to marry a couple performs a professional service and is liable for the state's 4 per cent sales tax on the fee. The party charging for the service must pay the tax, even if it isn't passed on to the consumer. But the tax can be sidestepped if newlyweds make a donation to the church, rather than to a clergyman."

PARTNERSHIP PROBLEMS: Two furriers who had had a bad season were arguing, Willy knew of a woman who wanted to come into the business with a substantial amount of cash. But his partner, Phil, was against the idea. "But why?" pleaded Willy. "You know how strapped we are for cash?"

"I just don't like women in business!"

"But why?" exhorted the exasperated partner.

"It's simple. If you treat them like men, they start crying; if you treat them like women, sooner or later, you wife's gonna find out about it!"

ALL WRONG: Wife, reading her husband's fortune on a weight card: "You are dynamic, a leader of men, and admired by women for your good looks and strength of character' . . . It's got your weight wrong, too!"

THE WILL: A wife was looking for her husband's tombstone but couldn't find it. She wandered up one path and down the next but could not locate her husband's grave. She found the cemetery office and asked if they could please give the lot and grave number of Marvin Lapidus' grave. The clerk looked down the list and said, "We don't seem to have a listing for Marvin Lapidus' but I do find one for a "Minnie Lapidus!"

"That's it," she cried. "Everything was in my name!"

PARENTS CLOTHING: Even kiddie stories have a different twist when psychiatrists tell them. What do you think, for instance, of this one, included in the after-dinner speech of a famous analyst: A mother was entertaining three other ladies at tea when her nine-year-old son bursts into the room, decked out in a shimmering white evening dress, a flowered hat, rouge on both cheeks, and his mouth smeared with lipstick. "Wilfred!" cried his horrified mother, "you nasty boy! Go upstairs and take off you father's clothes this very minute!"

PARIS HASN'T CHANGED: Recently a Wall Street banker took his wife to Paris, where he closed a big bond deal. Final signing of the papers took longer than he had expected, so he called the Ritz Hotel and told the French maid, "Please tell madame to go to bed and wait for me." "Bien monsieur," answered the maid, "but who shall I say called?"

Speaking of Sports

HOCKEY: It has been decided to discontinue Senior Hockey on Tuesday Night's and the schedule has been adjusted accordingly. In the "A" League the cellar-dwelling Braves have been showing some life of late thus making the league much more interesting. The "B" League Huskies still maintain what is now just about an insurmountable lead.

MINOR HOCKEY: The Pee Wee All Stars are at present in Quebec City, the only representative from this Province in the International Invitational Tournament. Aurora will have more details next week.

Pleased to report that Norm Peckham, President of Minor Hockey, is making a successful recovery, after an emergency operation in Montreal. It is expected Norm will be "up and around" later this month or early March.

SKI NEWS: The Nancy Greene team-of-the week is the red team, Kitsbuhl. Manager, Mike Brennan. Coach, J. Magny. Instr. E. Magny. Capt. Shawn Jardine. Team Members: P. Dugas, D. Timmons, T. Dawson, M. Dupre, N. Jackowski, A. Conners, N. Bryans, S. Candow, C. Hickey, M. O'Neill, D. Plue, A. Watson.

This week the Winter Games Team is in Saskatoon participating in the Winter Games. We hope to have details for our next edition.

The Pee Wee League has been formed with two teams, which are out to learn racing skills. Kids can take lessons on Saturday morning at 10:00 a.m. The executive and members of the Smokey Mt. Ski Club would appreciate it very much if local snowmobile enthusiasts would avoid the ski hill area. Beginner skiers can be extremely unpredictable and the snowmobiles represent an additional hazard.

CURLING: We have already offered our congratulations to the Ward team in the "On The Local Scene" column of this issue. Tomorrow the Carol Ladies Curling Team will leave for St. John's to represent Nfld. in the Canadian Championships. Best of luck from all Curlers and readers. The mixed doubles are being played in the capital this week and we will have an on the spot report for our readers next week.

Solve a Crime

BY A.C. GORDON
YOU ARE THE DETECTIVE

You gaze at the body of the well-known commercial artist, Richard Gregory, slumped over the drawing board in his home studio. His face is half hidden, showing the right side and a bullet hole in the temple. A gun is still clutched in his right hand, and your eye is caught by the watch with its flexible gold band just above that hand and showing the time to be 4.45 p.m. The victim's left arm lies over an unfinished illustration on the drawing board, its ink-stained fingers grasping the edge of the illustration. Finally you turn to the three persons who were in the house at the time of the tragedy.

"It's all too horrible," exclaims the pretty Jane Logan, the victim's secretary. "He was such a kind and good man...the best of employers. I had been doing some typing at the desk over there in the corner of the room just a few minutes earlier, and then went to the kitchen for a drink of water. I was there when I heard the shot." "I might as well admit I can't waste too much sympathy on the guy," says Tom Logan, Jane's husband. "Of course I wouldn't wish something like this on any man, but Gregory here was an unscrupulous sort of fellow and he did make advances to my wife. You'll probably learn, too, that he and I had some heated words about that. But why a successful illustratrator like he was had to go and kill himself, I just don't know."

Beverly Gregory, the victim's widow, speaks up: "I know only too well the kind of man Richard was. I've had to overlook any number of indiscretions on his part during our ten years of marriage. I was aware, too, that he had his eye on Jane here, but felt sure he would get over it just as he has many times in the past. He confessed to me recently that he had suffered some financial setbacks on some of his investments, but I certainly had no intimation that he was despondent enough to take his life this (Continued on page 11)

Parents — Greatest cause of juvenile delinquency

Although Juvenile delinquency seems to have marred every generation in history, it appears that the present can boast of the most accelerated outburst of delinquents.

Robbery, rapes, assaults and numerous other catastrophes are things which fill the newspapers of our country. I am absolutely amazed to learn that most of these law-breaking events stem from the fact that children are improperly instructed at home or not instructed at all. That is to say that parents are the predominate cause for a striking majority of juvenile delinquency.

'A Juvenile Delinquent as defined in the Juvenile Delinquents Act means any child who violates any provision of the criminal code or of any Dominion or Provincial Statute, or of any by-law or ordinance of any municipality, or who is guilty of sexual immorality or any similar form of vice, or who is liable by reason of any other act to be committed to an Industrial School or Juvenile Reformatory under the provision of any Dominion or Provincial Statute. The commission by a child of any of these acts constitutes an offence to be known as a Dilinquent.'

1. Taken from a report by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

A look at the Canadian statistics for 1968 shows that there were 18,352 cases of Juvenile Delinquency involving 16,107 teenagers. Parents seem to be the cause for a vast number of the cases reported since 1,533 acts were committed by children of parents who were illegally separated. Orphans were responsible for 1,227 occurrences and 307 cases were committed by children of divorced parents. 1,084 cases were reported for illegitimate-born children, which gives a total of 4,151 cases reported for those who had the misfortune to be deprived of either one or both parents.

However, we find that the majority of delinquent acts occurred among children whose natural parents were living together — 13,833 in this category. This means, that for every act of delinquency committed by those who lacked either one or both parents, three other cases occurred by those possessing both parents, who unfortunately, failed to be of any help. This indicates that parents were at fault in both instances, since they had either forsaken their kids entirely otherwise, they were at home but offered no assistance.

Can we accuse the atomic bomb for its terrifying effects, or gunpowder for the vast number of lives slayed by its power; can we look at a demolished automobile that has taken several lives and say that the automobile was to blame? Obviously the answer is negative and the question, 'can we reprehend kids and teenagers for their delinquent and sometimes uncivilized behavior,' must be given the same answer.

In the case of the inanimate objects above, it was by man's own ceaseless desire, ingenuity and skill that the bomb, gun and automobile were created. Similarly, a teenager's mind and outlook on life will be greatly influenced by his parent's desire and his good or bad behaviour will depend immensely on the aspirations and attitude of the parent.

What caused the 7,279 cases of theft reported in Canada in 1968, plus 4,037 acts of breaking and entering someone's property? Statistics show that well over 50% of the parents of children involved with the overall concern of Juvenile Delinquency in 1968 were well paid employees such as miners, farmers, clerks, and engineers. It is obvious that these kids stole, not because of an existing need but because of an urge and a desire to steal. This indicates a lack of responsibility on the part of the parent and foreshadows the future plight of our young generation if we neglect to instruct them sufficiently on living co-operatively with our neighbours.

If parents take a couldn't-care-less attitude toward this problem, their kids will naturally take advantage of this instability and subsequently tend to be delinquent. On the other hand, if parents, aspire carefully to take pain in insuring that their dealings and instructions to their children are normal and wise, their influence will consequently be seen in their children.

Can the question of Delinquency be ignored by saying, 'oh, well, kids will be kids'? Past research has proved the answer to be no. For example, 679 cases of infringement against the 'liquor Act' either by intoxication or by other means were reported in 1969 in Canada alone; and try and imagine the number of infringements not reported.

This shows the terribleness of ignoring the problem and exemplifies the truth of an old saying — forgetting a problem exists doesn't get rid of it. Our continent, which has become highly civilized with a modernized culture, cannot afford to have chaos brought into the picture by someone who could have been taught otherwise.

In the child life today, there exists two worlds side-by-side due in no small degree to the invention of television and movies. Great care must be taken to educate our kids to distinguish between them both. Not too long ago, the kids listened to stories told orally by their parents and from these drew their own conclusions. Today, kids spend an enormous amount of time viewing television. They enjoy the western where the outlaw is shot in the chest, or the robber has an arrow stuck in his back. These things are enjoyed but most of us are aware of the terrible danger which it presents. Many of our young generation watching such stories are incapable of distinguishing between fiction and reality. They take everything for granted. For example, some of them many, natural enough, get into a quarrel with a friend. Remembering what the star on television did in a similar dilemma, his obvious reaction causes him to shoot, not intending any harm of course, but, too late. It is then he unfortunately finds his world changing as he realizes the terribleness of reality.

BOOK SHELVES

One simple way to keep your books in neat alignment with the front of your shelves is to make a "stop strip" for them. This is a strip of wood cut as wide as the space between the books and the back of the shelf, and just long enough to accept a set of books which are all of one size. It isn't necessary to fasten this strip down in any way, unless of course the shelf has no back. . . . in which case you'll have to nail or screw the stop strip to the shelf (Gene Von).

TAX DODGERS GET CLOSER SCRUTINY: Companies which mislead consumers about prices, and individuals who mislead the government about their taxes, have been given fair warnings in statistics just published by two government departments. Both the national revenue and the corporate affairs departments have issued lists of the charges they have laid, and of the fines that were imposed as a result.

Corporate Affairs Minister Basford's list of cases covers 34 charges laid between August 1969 and December 1970. Four of the charges were dismissed by the courts and another was withdrawn by the government. In the other 29 cases, Ottawa won convictions and fines totalling more than $8,000.00. The fines ranged from $50.00 to $1,000.00. Almost all of the charges were laid against retailers; only a handful of manufacturers were taken to court. Generally, the companies did not contest the charges against them. Most of the companies convicted (15 of the 29) were located in Ontario. Another six were in the prairie provinces, five in Quebec, two in British Columbia and only one in the Atlantic provinces.

When he issued the list, Mr. Basford said his department is now receiving about 300 complaints a month of misleading advertising. In many cases, the complainants are competitors of the company being accused. For example, a store which is holding a sale on television sets may advertise that the regular price of the set is $400.00 while the competitor knows it is only about $325.00. The department investigates the complaint and if it seems justified, turns the evidence over to the Department of Justice.

The fines levied against tax offenders are much larger. In the 53 cases of tax evasion reported, the fines totalled almost $730,000.00 during the 12 months ending 13 March 1970. Two people had to pay fines of more than $100,000.00 each; one was a lawyer and the other was a hotel operator. Another 13 companies and individuals paid fines of more than $10,000.00 each. The department likes to get publicity on its cases. The more often people hear about prosecutions and convictions in tax evasion cases, the department feels, the more likely they will be to play it straight in the future.

CANADIAN FLEET RANKS 17TH IN WORLD: Canada's merchant fleet totalled 2.4 million tons according to latest available figures, a decline of 51,000 tons from a year earlier, and ranks 17th largest in the world, according to Lloyd's Register of Shipping. The 160 merchant ships and 104 other vessels on the Great Lakes make up 1.5 million tons of total, and the 79 vessels owned by the Department of Transport accounted for 176,000 tons of the remainder.

The largest part of the lakes fleet, 429,000 tons, is between 5 and 9 years old; 288,000 tons is 4 years old or less. The next greatest figure, 274,000 tons, is for ships 30 years old or more. The bulk of the lakes tonnage, 706,000 tons, is made up of ships between 15,000 and 19,999 tons, and the next largest, 179,000, is for those in the 10,000-14,999 category.

Of the total salt water fleet of 912,000 tons, ships 4 years old or less make up the biggest category, 312,000 tons and 193,000 tons is between 5 and 10 years old.

The world merchant fleet increased by 15.8 million tons during the year to a total of 227.5 million tons, including the U.S. reserve fleet of 6.5 million tons. Tonnage registered under the Liberian flag increased by 25% to 33.2 million tons. The Japanese merchant fleet grew by 19% to 27 million tons, the second largest. Britain recorded its largest yearly increase, 1.9 million tons, and remains third with 25.8 million tons.

The Norwegian fleet was reduced slightly to 19.3 million tons and the fifth ranked U.S. merchant fleet was out by more than a million tons to 18.4 million, including the reserve fleet. The removal from service of Second World War vintage Liberty ships accounts for much of the U.S. reduction. Tonnage registered under the Greek flag increased by a fifth to 11.0 million, giving Greece sixth ranking behind the Soviet Union. The world total of oil tankers in service increased by more than eight million tons during the year and represents 38% of all merchant ships, compared with 36.6% a year earlier and 35.6 in 1968.

Bulk carrier tonnage increased by almost five million tons and now makes up 20.5% of world shipping.

Late last year there were six oil tankers in service drawing 80 feet or more of water, and 316 of more than 50,000 tons. There were 75 ore and bulk carriers of more than 50,000.

EDUCATION WAVE SWEEPING EUROPE: There's a new wave of culture sweeping Europe. It's the education wave, a step up in formal schooling carried into the teens, a program which we take for granted in North America but for most western European countries, it means a whole new classroom game.

France is one example of how education is expanding. Before World War 11, the secondary schools counted their pupil population at 300,000. Today the number has passed 2 million. Now for the first time, there are more teachers in France than there are members of the armed forces. One major reason for education's advances: the great surge of west Europe's prosperity in the last 20 years. A look at the new education, both at the secondary and higher level, in 16 western European nations comes as part of a $250,000 marketing study sponsored by the Europeans editions of Reader's Digest.

The study involved interviews with 17,500 persons, the publication said.

Education today is looked on as a basic human right, the study found. But there are still problems: "Despite remarkable advances, Europe still has a long way to go, measured by the crucial factor of age at which the average student leaves school," the Digest Researchers said. Only in Sweden and parts of Switzerland is the terminal education age established at 16, the minimum standard in the United States and Canada. Earlier departure from school largely is due to financial demands and a shortage of teachers.

France, though, as one example, is raising the terminal age to 16 this year and Britain is planning to do so in 1972. In other countries, 14 and 15 still are the normal age for students leaving school. In Portugal, the minimum only recently was raised from 11 to 12. General improvement in education for all is shown, however, in the present size of the school population 18 years and above. During a 10-year period, the number of students taking some form of higher education doubled in most western countries. It tripled in Luxembourg, Norway, Sweden and the United Kingdom.

The Digest study disclosed one unpleasant side effect of the expansion of education for all. "The dramatic and noisy student demonstrations of recent years may be in part a by-product of the doubling and tripling of the population pursuing higher education," it says. "To be sure, the governments have recognized the importance of providing means for more education at the college and university levels....increasing public expenditures on education faster than the rate of national income..... But they have not caught up, and crowding is widely assumed to be a factor in increasing student unrest."

The researchers also found that English appears to be on the way to becoming Europe's second language. Some 42% of the under-25 set speak English, compared with only 28% of those over 25. French-speaking in the under-25 group advanced only from 27 to 29 per cent; German-speaking from 31 to 32 per cent.

PYRAMID DISPUTE TIES UP SAVINGS: A story of how a family's savings account has been tied up while a dispute over sale of a vacuum cleaner is resolved opened a public hearing recently by an Ontario government committee investigating referral and pyramid sales.

Suzanne Roman, a Toronto housewife, told the committee she bought the vacuum cleaner with the belief that she might be able to earn money by providing names of friends who also would buy. Total cost, including finance charges, was to be about $375.00.

Mrs. Roman said she later tried to cancel the contract. The finance company garnished the family savings account, which now is tied up while a court action is being argued.

The three-member committee also heard from a spokesman for a company operating on a referral sales basis and a representative of the Toronto Better Business Bureau. The bureau said it did not believe government action was needed to regulate referral sales. The committee, appointed last year by A. B. Lawrence, Ontario minister of financial and commercial affairs, was holding a two-day public hearing.

In a referral sale, the purchaser of a product may get cash rebates for providing the name of someone else who buys the product. Pyramid selling is a system where the distributor of a product recruits people to invest in a sales organization and become distributors. Persons buying into a pyramid sales operation may be required to buy a specified quantity of the product and there may be no limit to the number of people who can sell in an area.

Mrs. Roman said the salesman told her she would get $5 for each prospective customer supplied to the company. The sales contract was for $15 down and $15 a month for 24 months. The purchase contract was signed on a Thursday and the following Tuesday she told the salesman she wanted to cancel the contract. The vacuum cleaner was delivered on 5 April and she said it was returned to the company 2 May.

Mr. W. W. Evans, one of the committee members, asked if the salesman objected to the cleaner being returned. "He said: 'You're married to that machine,'" Mrs. Roman replied. Mrs. Roman said $244 and some cents, had been taken from the savings account and the account has been frozen while the dispute is being settled.

Mr. S. G. Grange, a Toronto lawyer and chairman of the committee, said he was concerned because the referral method is based in part, "and we don't know how much", on the possibility of money being returned. The contract Mrs. Roman signed, he said, stated clearly that the company made no promises to help Mrs. Roman pay for the cleaner. But people tend to disregard those statements when considering the possibilities, he said.

"How can you talk so calmly about it?" exclaims Jane. "I know you didn't love him, and that probably had something to do with his shooting himself."

At this point, you break into the conversation. "From what I have seen, I don't think Richard Gregory did shoot himself. I am sure he was murdered!"

And then you fasten your gaze on your suspect.

Why do you suspect murder, and who is your suspect?

SOLUTION

was lefthanded and would not, therefore, have shot himself in the right temple.

It seems apparent that both his wife and secretary would know this fact well enough not to have made so obvious a mistake.

Therefore, your suspicion falls upon Tom Logan, with jealousy as the probable motive.

MADRID RATE THE LOWEST: Madrid ranks as the least expensive major city in its overnight bed and continental breakfast charge in hotels, according to a survey recently published by a London-based firm. The survey, covering first-class hotels in the world, placed Dublin at $11.90, (U.S.) as the second lowest. Madrid was the cheapest at $10.60. At the top end of the scale were New York ($39.67), Paris ($35.80), and Lisbon ($31.32).

ED NOTE: Having stayed at the Ritz Hotel in Lisbon last spring, we found the Lisbon rate of $31.32 rather astonishing. In April 1970 the charge at the Ritz, (the best hotel in Portugal), was $22.00 (double) for bed and continental breakfast. An increase in excess of 40 per cent over 10 months, certainly seems unreasonable.

JUMBO'S ZERO FATALITY RATE: The Boeing 747 Jumbo Jet-liner, the biggest in the world, celebrated its first birthday last month with a zero fatality rate, a 7 million passenger tally, and a rash of complaints about the rest rooms.

With various modification now in force, the 365-passenger jetline has flown 15 billion accident-free passenger miles, an enviable safety record. The passenger loads of the 747's (a key economic indicator for the airlines) showed an average of 180 persons per flight with 150 set as the break-even point for the airlines.

QUEBECAIR TO MEXICO: Quebecair recently announced it has received permission from the Mexican government for a series of charter flights between Canada and Acapulco. Vic Pappalardo, charter services manager, of the Montreal-based airline, said it is developing a variety of Mexican holiday packages which will be offered through travel agents to clubs and associations.

They started last month and will continue throughout 1971. Prices will vary from $229 to $299 for complete one-week holidays, including air fare, hotels, transfers and a sight-seeing boat cruise. Meals are optional to the package.

Departures for affinity groups can be arranged from any eastern Canada city. The airline will use its BAC 1-11 jets, an economical easy-to-fill aircraft for charters because of its 79-seat capacity. Quebecair said it is also working with tour operators to develop a series of inclusive tour charters for next summer. These have no affinity-group requirements.

CUNARD ADVENTURER NEW CONCEPT: The Cunard Line broke with tradition when it recently disclosed that the company's new 700-passenger cruise ship, scheduled to enter service later this year, will be named Cunard Adventurer. The announcement was made at the construction site, Rotterdam, by Lord Mancroft, managing director and Richard B. Patton, president for North America, to 200 American travel agents, who travelled to the shipyard from the ASTA convention in Amsterdam.

Lord Mancroft told the travel agents, "The name Cunard Adventurer will immediately identify her as a vacation cruise ship conceived and built to take your clients on exciting seagoing adventures. The name projects both the tradition, quality and service for which our company is known and the fresh, new thinking that is such an important element in the Cunard Line of today."

By tradition, all Cunard Line ships, except for the three Queens, have been named after Roman countries ending in "a" such as Mauritania, Aquitania, Britannia, Media, Parthia, Franconia and Carmania. Mr. Patton described the new cruise ship as combining exciting new features with the best qualities of the Queen Elizabeth "2" in a smaller package.

SWISS SPEAK ENGLISH, TOO: Although four national languages, each representing a different ethnic group, are spoken in Switzerland, English is widely understood because it is a popular choice in schools, where learning a second language is compulsory, says the Swiss National Tourist Office.

German is spoken by 70 per cent of the Swiss population, French 19 per cent, Italian 10 per cent, and Romansch (a derivation of Latin,) by 1 per cent.

600 FISH SPECIES: Some 600 species of fish inhabit Bermuda waters, including game fish like marlin, tuna and barracuda. Expeditions to the deep sea grounds are organized throughout the hotels, with experienced guides supplying tackle and bait. The Visitors' Service Bureau on Front Street in Hamilton provides lists of boats for charter.

Yacht racing in the various classes takes place the year round, while scuba diving, water skiing and shore fishing are available to those who prefer non-competitive water sports. Undersea swimming with aqua lung equipment has become increasingly popular throughout the islands.

MP comments on Wabush Mines announcement

STATEMENT BY AMBROSE PEDDLE, CONSERVATIVE M.P. FOR GRAND FALLS WHITE BAY-LABRADOR

I am deeply disappointed by the announcement that Wabush Mines has decided to suspend plans for a $100 million expansion of iron ore facilities at Wabush Lake, Newfoundland and Sept Isles, Quebec.

The decision is a critical setback, hopefully only temporary, to the development plans of Labrador, and is visible evidence of the ill-advised and discriminatory economic policies of the federal government.

Spokesmen for Wabush say one of the basic factors in the decision was that the level of taxation is considered to be unfavourable to such a project. A second reason, they say, is the prevailing difficulties in raising large capital amounts.

The federal government stubbornly refuses to admit its economic policies are wrong; the Canadian economy must be stimulated; and the great uncertainties in the nation about taxation must be immediately clarified. The finance Minister should give an assurance, now, not in late April, that his tax reform legislation will not include the unpalatable proposals of his White Paper as they pertain to the mining industry, and instead, offer encouragement for further expansion of this crucial sector of the Canadian economy.

Rates for long term lending are still very high, despite the government's smug attitude that inflation is licked. Long term security yield has barely budged. And that is acknowledged proof the investors in this country have no confidence in the economic policies of this government.

The Wabush expansion would have been a much needed shot in the arm for the Canadian mining industry. It would have been an even greater boon to the Labrador-northern Quebec economy. There is vast potential in this area of Canada—but the federal government seems unconcerned.

Finance Minister Benson said smugly on January 13, in the House of Commons, that the Wabush expansion was going ahead. I hope today's unfortunate announcement awakens him to the reality of a sick economy... sick because he and his government know not where they're going in their brazen experimentation of economics.

There appears to be no immediate danger that the United States will close down its air base at Goose Bay says Conservative MP, Ambrose Peddle.

But the Federal and Newfoundland governments should recognize now that the Goose Bay-Happy Valley-Lake Melville area must be provided with a new economic base he says in an interview this week.

Mr. Peddle, the member for Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador, says sources at the Pentagon in Washington indicate there is no intention at present of phasing out the Strategic Air Command.

"As long as SAC remains as a vital component of the North American defence, Goose Bay will remain as a vital base for this operation," asserts Peddle.

He noted with pleasure that negotiations are already underway for extension of the 20-year lease for the base. External Affairs Minister Sharp assured the Labrador member in the Commons that the U.S. has no intentions of abandoning the base.

The present lease expires June 5, 1972.

Expressing concern at the economic impact to the area of the recently announced cutback of military and civilian personnel, Peddle called on the government in Ottawa to accelerate its consideration of a proposal to develop a Labrador-Quebec highway system.

The Commons' Transport Committee, after an enlightening tour of Labrador last year, had recommended an Ottawa-Newfoundland-Quebec agreement to build a highway connecting the North of Baie Comeau, Sept-Iles, Manicougan, Gagnon, Labrador City, Wabush, Churchill Falls and Goose Bay. The government accepted the recommendation after Peddle moved a motion to concur in the House. He is a member of the committee.

Under questioning from the Tory member, the Government disclosed it has established an inter-departmental study group to consider the highway proposal, and other possible initiatives that may be taken to develop Labrador.

Peddle emphasized that a roads system would greatly accelerate development of the cities in Labrador, improve living conditions, and speed up interest in the exploitation of the vast natural resources.

The Bible Today

The introduction to the Constitution of the newly founded Church of Christ in Congo contains the following tribute to the Bible:

"We wish to thank the missionaries and be grateful to God because, in spite of different tendencies among the missionaries, they have presented the people of Congo with the Holy Word of God, the Bible. All over

Congo, each mission has stressed biblical reading and knowledge. Missionaries gave their doctrine and theology a second place, presenting to the Congolese the Bible as the foundation of everything. We are grateful to the Lord Who permitted, in all our communities everywhere, the Gospel to be the heart and the very foundation of the life of the Church. Thanks to this power of the Word of God has worked the miracle of transforming thousands of Congolese. Everywhere in our country huge numbers of Christians are found touched and transformed by the Word of God. This belief and the respect for the divine Word are the solid base for our unity."
