AURORA SALES: With weekly circulation nearing our target of 2,500 copies, we are offering the following incentives to "put us over the top." Starting next month, there will be a monthly draw of $25.00 for Aurora paper carriers. (One chance for every 25 papers sold during period). And we would like to commence a weekly cash award of $25.00 to Aurora readers. However, at the moment, haven't decided on how to go about it. So we are asking you — our readers — to submit your ideas. (It could be a puzzle, just a single number, a mistake in telephone number, certificate, etc.) We will accept your suggestion up to, and including 1 October, '71. Winning idea will receive $25.00. And will be announced in Aurora of 6 October '71. So drop us a note at P.O. Box 2090; or use one of our drop boxes, for your suggestions. First awards next month.

PROMOTING SAFETY: Scully Mines of Wabush has initiated a program to promote safety amongst all its employees. According to Mr. Bill Rough, awards will be made every sixty days — on a trial, 6 months basis. Last week Aurora was present for the initial draw. The 12 lucky winners were: Hourly Employees: Messrs Kinny, Spurrell, King, Smart, Penney and Kean. Salaried Employees: Messrs Blackwood, Marche, Rayworth, Winter, Hall and Lamoyette. These gentlemen will be presented with $150.00 cash and free transportation — Montreal return — on the Scully Mines "Viscount." They have a choice of long-weekend or midweek trips. Every effort will be made to arrange visits, as not to interfere with normal working days. The above contest covered July-August; next draw covering September-October, will be made early in November. A Grand Prize will be drawn January 1972. Also in attendance at the Wabush Recreation Centre, were two "Wise Owl" award winners.

COURT NEWS: During a visit to Churchill Falls — earlier this month — Magistrate Rowe heard a number of cases. A resident was sentenced to one year in jail, following his conviction on a charge of Gross Indecency. He is "serving time" at H.M. Penitentiary in St. John's, Nfld. (3) Male residents were charged with breaking Liquor Control regulations and received fines. One impaired driver was fined $50.00 and lost his license for six months. Failing to obey Wild Life regulations cost another resident $20.00.

Back at L.C. Court; (2) Impaired Drivers were fined $50.00 and are not permitted to operate a vehicle for a period of 6 months. Several cases involving offences against the Alcoholic Liquor-Wild Life-Highway Traffic Acts, were heard — convictions resulted — and fines were imposed. A licensed premises was fined $100.00 for not adhering to Alcoholic Liquor Regulations. In a number of cases — including forging of documents, stealing lumber, disorderly conduct and failing to pay a taxi fare — suspended sentences were given and offenders ordered to sign bonds covering future good behavior.

Editorially Speaking

PEOPLE ON WELFARE: One of the most controversial subjects—especially in this Province, over recent years—has been, should welfare recipients, in good health, work on government projects. Recently the Social Planning Department of the City of Vancouver did a study on "welfare and the young." Here we read some surprising and frightening statistics. What the study disclosed is one which Canadian society cannot ultimately, avoid facing.

The study was conducted by means of a lengthy questionnaire and personal interviews. The subjects co-operated voluntarily and were guaranteed anonymity. In all, 166 persons between the ages of 18 and 25—a random sample representing 6 per cent of that age group on welfare in Vancouver, were interviewed. Of these 103 were males, 63 females. There were no transients. An interesting starting point was that between 1966 and 1970 the percentage of people between 18 and 25 in the Vancouver population increased from 11.3 to 11.5 per cent, while those in this age group on welfare increased from 2.5 to 11.4 per cent.

Here's what the researchers found! They found that 16 per cent of the 166 were choosing a welfare life style—they did not want full-time work, they seldom looked for work, they expected to be on social assistance indefinitely, some had never worked full time and the rest for less than a year; 46 per cent had Grade 12 or better, education; but considered they had no marketable skills. Very few wanted to acquire more education or skills, most felt no alienation at being on welfare, 58 per cent had lied to get on welfare, 23 per cent used drugs daily.

At the other extreme 14 per cent of the young people disliked being on welfare, felt that it had alienated them, looked regularly for work, had definite goals they expected to attain, felt that they would be on welfare only briefly. The remaining 70 per cent said that they wanted full-time work, but seldom went looking for it. Few had much experience of full-time work, most expected to be on welfare for an extended period. These young people, said the study, "appear to be in varying precarious positions with the possibility of many falling into a pattern of welfare recipientism." But where did they spring from—these young people on welfare? Only 15 per cent had parents who were also on welfare. Their parents' median income was $8,367 a year, compared to a national median of $5,917 and a BC median of $7,364. 34% of them came from families whose fathers are in the professions. Their educational standards are comparable with those of their parents. Only 11 per cent of the 166 are involved with either formal or informal political groups. They estimated that less than 1 per cent of their time is spent on political activities. Most of the rest of their time is spent on recreation or doing nothing. Of the 166, 100 use drugs: "This frequency of drug use would appear," says the study, "to have some effect on their ability and desire to function in a work environment... Their diet, drug use and life style all seem to have contributed to a rundown appearance." They don't know about health resources or do don't use them. They are bored.

Is society doing anything to motivate young people on welfare to develop new goals and undertake new means of attaining them? Not, it appears, in Vancouver. "The only significant direct impact between recipient and the Social Service Department," said the study, "is the cheque delivery system. The initial interview is brief and there is virtually no followup. With few exceptions recipients do not understand or are unaware of resources or assistance available to them. Their social workers, said only 16 per cent of them, had told them of education and retraining programs. Only 3 saw their social workers weekly, 134 had never seen him. For 96 per cent of the young people, the only contact they had with the Social Services Department was through the cheque delivery system—all the males and 30 per cent of the females getting their cheques through a line-up, and 70 per cent of the females through the mails.

Is the Vancouver study accurate for the country? Is an increasing proportion of our young people opting for a dreary sub-standard existence that cannot, even by the idealistic young, be described as a culture? Are we letting them do it without lifting a finger to help them? These are questions to which Canadians everywhere must start seeking the answers, and soon.

Dear Sir,

I would like to comment on the Hockey school (?), held a few weeks ago. My understanding of a hockey school is like that of Ralph Backstrom's — held here two years ago — or that of Joe Byrne's, on the island. The boys

SWEDES BUY THE MOST NEWSPAPERS: Man for man, Swedes buy the most newspapers. Egyptians and Russians go to the movies most. Irishmen consume more calories than any other people. These are some of the things one learns from the United Nations Statistical Yearbook. In Sweden, every 1,000 persons read 528 newspapers, against 488 in Britain, 320 in the Soviet Union and 305 in the United States. There are 401 television sets for every 1,000 Swedes against 399 per thousand in the United States and 127 in the Soviet Union.

FOUNDER GUIDE TO QUIT: Doris Jourd has decided she has been a Girl Scout long enough. She's 74 and was the British movement's first member 62 years ago. Mrs. Jourd, who enrolled in 1909, is retiring as captain of the 1st Whitstable Company in Kent County. The Girl Scouts are now known as Girl Guides, but the girls are much the same, says Mrs. Jourd. "They seem sophisticated on the surface, but the girls of my generation were much tougher than people think."

A TRIFLE TARDY: Edna Davis, 50, of Rochester, England, was a bit surprised when workmen arrived at her public-housing unit to build a baby-buggy ramp. She had requested the ramp when her daughter Janet was a year old. That was back in 1952. "I really don't need the ramp now," said Mrs. Davis. "Janet is old enough to walk. In fact, she's getting married next week."

PORTRAIT CAMERA: A low-priced portrait camera for amateur snapshooters is now available. This camera, called Big Shot, makes only one kind of picture — a color head-and-shoulders portrait. It is designed for the amateur who wants to take attractive, undistorted studio quality portraits of people, pets or objects without having to understand the complexities and technicalities normally associated with portrait and close-up photography. There are no settings or adjustments to make. The camera has few moving parts other than the shutter-release lever and shutter blade. Once in focus, the camera user simply squeezes the shutter lever to make the flash exposure and pulls the film tap from the camera to start development.

ADVERTISING FIASCO: Her ex-finance's sweatshirt, emblazoned with the words "Gerda Still Loves Me," so upset Gerda Spaaken, 22, of Brussels that she threatened a lawsuit. And her boy friend was threatening to attack the ex-finance, she said.

YOUTH LOST BID TO RUN FOR NDP: John Syrtash has failed to become Ontario's first 18-year-old political candidate. At a meeting New Democratic Party members in the provincial riding of York Mills chose Mike Morrone, 21, a history graduate from the University of Western Ontario, to contest the riding in the next provincial election. York Mills is held by Dalton Boles, 51-year-old minister of municipal affairs.

SMALLWOOD PREDICTS LIBERAL LANDSLIDE: Premier Smallwood recently went on public record predicting a landslide victory for his Liberal Party in this year's Provincial election. He predicted in a public interview that his party will take "not many below" 39 seats, the number it took in the 1966 election. The Smallwood administration will be seeking a 7th term of office. Commenting on the Premier's remarks, provincial PC Party Leader Frank Moores said he would win at least 22 seats. This would give the P.C.'s the government with a one-seat majority.

dollars an hour for ice time or to watch a Stanley Cup play-off game on film. (Steep prices even for Labrador City). This price still allows for the added disappointment caused by the non-arrival of three big stars; this is a bit much.

I'm not blaming the N.H.L. hockey players. If they can get a fishing trip at the expense of the people of Labrador City, more power to them. However I do think that the people responsible for bringing them up here should have provided an organized system for a properly run school. And I know there are a lot more of the parents who feel the same way.

By D.R. Parsons

For if any be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass; For he beholdeth himself, and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was.

James 1:23, 24.

The Bible is a mirror in which we can see ourselves as we are by nature. In Psalm 14 God presents us with a "bust" of a sinner, but in Romans 3 we have a full-length portrait. Yet men will either refuse to look in this mirror or else promptly ignore what they see and forget what God says about them. We can see the faults of others, little realizing that they are our own faults.

The story is told of an elderly man, very nearsighted, who took great pride in posing as a critic of art. One day he visited the art museum with some friends and immediately began to give his criticisms of the various paintings. Stopping before a full-length portrait he began to take it apart. He had left his glasses at home and could not see the picture clearly. With an air of superiority he began: "The frame," he said, "is altogether out of keeping with the picture. The subject (a man) is too homely and shabbily dressed. In fact he is ugly, and it was a great mistake for this artist to select such a shoddy subject for a portrait." The old fellow was going on his way, when his wife managed to get to him and pulling him aside, whispered in his ear, "My dear, you are looking in a mirror." He had been criticizing himself. What a lesson for us all. Our own faults, which we do not recognize, seem so big when we see them in others; but we are blind to them when they are our own. David was quick to condemn himself (unknowingly) when he condemned the man who stole one little lamb (11 Samuel 12:4, 5.) It is not what we think of ourselves, but what God says about us that counts.

It takes much grace to judge yourself,
For vanity is strong;
But God will bless the soul who cries,
"O Lord, forgive; I'm wrong."

"Othermen's sins are before our eyes; our own are behind our

The Lighter Side

COMINGS & GOINGS: An old fellow who had spent endless hours at the corner tavern decided to mend his ways. "Wife," he said, "do you think you can forgive me for my shortcomings?" "Husband," she replied, "it ain't so much your shortcomings I've minded. It's your long-goings."

FROM THE LONDON DAILY TELEGRAPH: "A Conservative party official visited Liverpool to sound out opinion on the Common Market stopped one woman in the street and asked her view. Came the reply, "Where are they building it, luv?"

NOT JEALOUS: The guy and doll were flying low through the countryside when the guy brought the car to a screeching halt. On their left in a grazing field there was a cow and an amorous bull. The guy put a big mit around the doll's middle and murmured softly, "By, would I like to do the same thing." "Go right ahead," the doll said. "I'll wait here for you!"

NO SPEAKER: At Nero's command, a young slave was hurled into the Colosseum to be devoured by a lion. The beast an unusually fierce specimen, had been penned up for days without food to make him even more fierce. The lion roared into the arena and then an incredible thing happened. Just as his great jaws were ready to snap shut, the slave managed to whisper into the lion's ear. The savage animal slunk away and disappeared into his pen. Nero summoned the victorious slave and asked how he had accomplished the marvel. "Easy," replied the young man. "I merely told the lion that after the meal he would be invited to say a few words."

THE "PARTICULAR" JUDGE: There is the story of the judge who attended a dinner party, and as each course of the dinner was offered to him, he would reject it by saying, "I have tried that particular food once, and not found it to my liking." The host naturally was disturbed at not being able to please his guest of honor, and offered him a dollar cigar. The honourable judge also rejected the Havana with the remark, "No, thank you. I tried smoking once, and I don't like it. Further disturbed, the host went into his cellar and returned with a bottle of rare old champagne. On offering a generous swig to the judge, his hospitality was again refused. "I once tried alcoholic beverages, and do not care for them." In the silence that followed, another guest at the far end of the table was heard whispering to his companion, "You know, of course, that His Honor has only one child?"

INSTRUCTIONS: Behind the wheel and hopelessly snarled in a traffic jam, the wife asked, "What shall I do?" "I don't know," answered her husband, "but I'm sure if you climb into the back seat, you can figure it out."

OVERNIGHT INCREASE: "How much are those tomatoes?" said the lady. Replied the fruit-stand owner: "Forty cents a pound." Lady: "Did you raise them yourself?" Owner (proudly): Yes, as a matter of fact I did." Lady: "I thought so They were thirty cents a pound yesterday."

THE NEWLY WEDS: A young couple began married life with twin beds. One of the homely touches that the bride thought of was a pretty little plaque with the inscription: "I need thee every hour," which she hung over the bed. A week later the husband had acquired a plaque of his own, which he hung over his bed. It read: "God give me strength."

PRACTICING: "I sure hope this Dr. Grump is a good doctor," said the nervous new patient. "I hope he knows what he's doing." "Oh, of course," soothed the nurse. "He's been practicing for years." "Practicing?" gasped the patient alarmed. "You mean he's still just practicing?"

UNGRATEFUL: A man had to go to prison for three years. He told his brother to keep an eye on his wife. Well, when he got out of jail, there were two kids in the house and one on the way, so he called the brother in and said, "I thought told you to keep an eye on her! The brother said, "I did keep an eye on her, everynight.. and you're lucky you had me here to do it for you, too!" The husband screamed, "Lucky? You call that lucky?" The brother replied, "I sure do. Why, if you didn't have me for a brother, you wouldn't even be a member of the family now!"

WHARF CONTRACT AWARDED: A $58,980 contract has been awarded to Pelley Enterprises Limited of Springdale for the reconstruction of a wharf at Postville, Labrador. The successful firm submitted the lowest of four tenders, high bid being $75,608. Postville is located on the north shore of Kaipokok Bay, on the Atlantic seaboard in Labrador.

PEANUTS SEX STIMULANTS? A Johannesburg girl's high school has banned peanuts and peanut butter at the school because they are considered sexual stimulants. A report by the nutrition advisory services organization said the ban was ordered by the school's head-mistress. The school was not identified, a spokesman for the organization said: "To the best of my knowledge there is no proof that peanuts are a sexual stimulant," and a health department official commented that "there is no scientific basis for such a belief." But the South African peanut industry is delighted at the suggestion, said a spokesman for the oilseeds control board: "If it is true, the sale of peanuts and peanut butter will soar sky high."

Speaking of Sports

HOCKEY: Last weekend (3) representatives from Labrador City attended the N.A.H.A. annual meeting held in Grand Falls. C. Brown & H. Whitten covered Minor Hockey and A. Snow, Intermediate.

Things are looking up for a good season. Vermont have expressed interest in entering the "A" League - bringing it up to four teams. "B & Industrial" Leagues should operate as before. Because of interest shown last year, efforts will be made to inaugurate a Ladies Hockey League, 1971-72.

Minor Hockey registration will be held at L.C. Collegiate, all-purpose room, on Wednesday 22 Sept. at 3:00 p.m. Final registration will take place at the Arena on Saturday 25 Sept. from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon. Following 2nd registration, a special charge of $1.00 will be made for those signing-up. (However this will not include newcomers to the area or families just returning from holidays.)

TANYA SNO KART CLUB: The winter fast approaches and once more thoughts are turning to snowmobiling and winter activities. The fall meeting will be held shortly and a full program of winter activities are planned. The Club House is nearing completion — with the building chairman putting in many long hours on his lonesome. He would appreciate any help that he can get — as many hands make light work. A new roof has been put on — as mother nature was unkind and blew the former roof off. The president turned mason, is progressing very well with the indoor barbecue pit.

The Safety program on the use of snowmobiles and winter hazards is being planned for the children in the area, this fall and a date will be published later.

An open invitation is extended to all snowmobile owners and interested persons to drop around to the club house on Tanya Lake and look over our facilities. You'll find activities you can participate in, as a member of a thriving club.

TAMARACK GOLF CLUB

Golfing is fast drawing to a close for another season. Although the weather was not the best, well over 400 members managed to get in quite a few games, if our register is to be believed. Despite a "few" flies, a little bit of rain, "Cardiac Hill" and a water hazard that apparently grabbed balls out of the air, some members even managed to reduce their handicaps.

A mixed two-ball four some was held August 22. Winners were: 1 — Bob Watson & Dora Anderson, 2 — Denny Christian & Pat Brennan, 3 — Kurt Spitznagel & Evelyn Morgan. In the men's two-ball, Ralph Roberts & Marcel Laines beat out Claude Gauthier & Jack Bartlett by one stroke.

Labor Day weekend saw the annual captain's day held Sept. 4th. Bill Smith and Friedel Spitznagel will receive trophies for low cross, with John Baston Jr. and Anna Yuill receiving the vice-captain's trophies for low net.

On Sept. 5th. a "Tombstone" Tournament was thoroughly enjoyed by all participants. In this tourney, players were given a cross bearing their allotted number of strokes, which when reached, ended the tourney for them. They then planted their cross and were said to have "died." Mr. Leo Martin was the first man to "die," Mary Robertson the first lady to go. Harvey Barrett "lived" the longest. Other winners were: Denny Christian, John Baston Jr., Hilda Beaugard and Dora Anderson.

Sixty-four men and twenty-one ladies took part in the annual closing tournament, held Sept. 11 & 12th. Winners were:

Men Class A low cross — Reg. Duchesneau; low net — Yvon Morin.

Class B low cross — Eric Hart; low net — Lorne Brown.

Class C low cross — Wait. Hefferton; low net — Bob Hollett.

Ladies low cross — Marge Roberts; low net — Kilby Belliveau.

A hole in one was scored on the fifth hole this season by Jim Thomson. Jim is vice-captain of the club and handles the junior section. We understand this is Jim's second hole in one in his golfing career. Congratulations Jim, by the way we understand there is a certain tradition to be followed when one scores a hole in one, we'll look forward to that Jim!

All members are reminded of our annual trophy night and dance, which is being held at O'Brien Hall on October 2 this year. Tickets are available from any member of the executive.

The executive extends their thanks to all the members who volunteered their time and energy in preparing the new holes for play, and in building fences, landscaping trees and generally making Tamarack Golf Course the best in the North!
